

Opposition Of Smith Faces Gov. Roosevelt

Alfred E. Smith Challenges With Threat to Fight Any Candidate Who Plays Upon Class Distinction—Roosevelt Radio Address Believed Foundation for Statement—Smith Makes His Position Clear at Rally.

Washington, April 14 (AP).—The opposition of Alfred E. Smith, suddenly and forcefully expressed, stood today across Franklin D. Roosevelt's path toward the Presidential nomination of the Democratic party.

A stern challenge, with its object unnamed but indisputably identified, was thundered out last night by the "Happy Warrior" of 1928 in his address to the Jefferson Day gathering of the party's great—a gathering which had been heralded as a "unity" meeting to forward Democratic success in November.

Roosevelt was not there. Other business kept him in Albany, but many of his supporters were in the throng which heard Smith, after quoting Roosevelt utterances, promise to "take off my coat and vest and fight to the bitter end any candidate who persists in any demagogic appeal to the masses of the working people of this country to destroy themselves by setting class against class and rich against poor."

It was Roosevelt who only last Thursday in a radio address pleaded the cause of the "forgotten man" at the bottom of the economic structure, the farmer and the small householder. In that same address he labeled a "stop-gap" the idea of a big public works bond issue to stimulate employment.

"Smith, who sponsors just such a project, quoted this word 'stop-gap' in referring critically to exception taken to his plan in the recent speech of a leading Democrat whom he did not name. It was that reference which gave his audience one of the definite clues to the direction his words were taking.

Today Democratic leaders were weighing the effect of this startling development on the party fortunes and upon the candidacy of Roosevelt who now is way beyond any rivalry on the road to nomination, with 216 pledged and claimed delegates. Immediate repercussions were awaited.

Debt Settlement Plan.
Smith flung into the meeting also a proposal for settling the war debts and stimulating American foreign trade by this government's offering the debtor nations to "forget" their obligations for 20 years, meanwhile reducing their total each year by 25 percent of their purchases of American goods. Considerably elaborated, this plan received an uncertain response, with much less applause than was volunteered many of his utterances.

Earlier the group had been startled by the proffer of a compromise war plank from the dry state of Virginia. Former Governor Harry Flood Byrd proposed immediate amendment of the constitution to make possible a direct referendum by the people, to be held thereafter at a date unmarked by political contests on the direct issue of continuing, abridging or repealing the 18th amendment.

This, with Smith's renewal of his urging for a states' rights plank, allowing states to remain wet or dry as they choose, was one of the few references to prohibition in the party proceedings.

The gathering of more than 2,000 came at the end of a day replete with rallies, speeches and campaign planning, heard also Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, the toastmaster, and John J. Raskob, the party's national chairman. Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, on the program for a speech, was not able to attend. The general tenor of the talks was an assault on the Republican administration, coupled with predictions of triumph for Democracy this election.

Skipped Part of Talk.
In the text of his address prepared beforehand, Smith followed up his promise to take off his coat and fight with the assertion:

"It would be better that the convention remain in session all summer and give to the people a vigorous, strong, clearly defined platform, and candidates capable of fighting for it, than to hurry away from Chicago with a half-baked proposal to offer to the people of the country."

But the sentence went unuttered. The paragraph and several others were skipped in Smith's rapid delivery. It was understood that Byrd and others, upon seeing the manuscript in advance, advised the New Yorker to "tone it down."

He did, however, say:

"Some Democrats say, 'Give us a short convention; others say 'Nominate a candidate against whom nothing can be said while there cannot be much said for him.' The answer to those who would see the position to gloss over controversial questions in an attempt to please both sides of the argument will bring forth a meaningless document, a colorless candidate and a weakened party. Experience will win nothing for Democracy."

Titanic Disaster Happened 20 Years Ago, 1,513 Were Lost

New York, April 14 (AP).—The greatest maritime disaster of history occurred 20 years ago today when the Titanic struck ice and sank with 1,513 passengers and crew.

Newspaper files telling of the tragedy are shredding to dust but the memory of it is undimmed in the minds of the survivors. They numbered only 711.

The Titanic was the largest ship afloat—60,000 tons displacement. It was built at Belfast, for the White Star Line and launched May 31, 1911.

Its maiden voyage was its last. It left Southampton on April 10, 1912, called at Cherbourg on the same day and Queenstown the next. In the afternoon it started for New York with 2,224 passengers and crew aboard.

Three days went by. The seas were calm and the passengers, among them many of the best known personages of America and Europe, amused themselves by exploring the great ship, the last word in maritime comfort.

At about 11:15 p. m. on Sunday, April 14, a lookout rang a bell thrice sharply, a signal to the bridge that an object lay dead ahead.

The order was given: "Wheel hard to starboard!" The engines were reversed. Too late. The submerged portion of an iceberg slid along the bottom of the ship like a huge can opener, splitting its bulkhead and bilges.

The passengers felt only a slight, grinding shock. There was no alarm. Captain Smith sent the carpenter to sound the ship. He found two feet of water in the masting room below decks. Some of the passengers sensed a slight list toward the bow. Radio operators were sending "C. Q. D.," then the code call for assistance.

There was a belief that the great Titanic was unsinkable and even when the order came for the passengers to put on life belts and come to the decks there was no panic.

Women and children were loaded first into the lifeboats, then men into available places. Some women refused to leave their husbands. They were drowned.

At 2:20 a. m. two and a half hours after the collision, the great ship went down, its captain at his post, the band playing "Nearer My God to Thee," the steam in the boilers hissing a ghastly farewell.

Away from the sucking hole rowed the lifeboats, their occupants shivering in the bitter cold. Then, the chilling shrieks from the dying in the waters.

"Sing, boys, sing!" shouted the stoker captain of lifeboat 13, already loaded to capacity. "Sing! And drown the cries of the drowning!"

Two lights appeared. The survivors watched to see if they wavered. If they did it meant they were on two lifeboats. If they stayed together it was the masthead and bridge of a steamer. They stayed together.

"Row, boys!" sang the oarsmen. "Row!" The saved gave way to tears and there in the quiet dawn stood the Carpathia, motionless, ready to take them aboard.

Traffic Violators Netted by Police
The police department has received so many complaints regarding the disregard of the stop signs at street intersections on the part of auto drivers that Wednesday afternoon Officer Boss was stationed at Broadway and McEntee street to watch for and arrest violators. He made eight arrests.

The eight who failed to stop for the sign were Louis Edelstein of New York city; Herman J. Smith of Saugerties; Walter E. Dean of New York city; Jacob J. Donovan of Highland; Charles P. Jennings of Lake Katrine; Peter Zahring of New York city; William J. Schman of Jersey City; and James F. Whelan of Hastings.

Y.M.C.A. Drive Group Reports $2,082.75 In First Day's Efforts

One of the "peppiest" first night report meetings to be held by the local Y. M. C. A. was held in the symposium Wednesday evening in the presence of the nearly 120 workers. The men entered to the tune of "Metropolitan Life March," played by the Youth Council Orchestra consisting of Clifford Van Valkenburgh, and Ellsworth Haines, violins; Harold Baltz, and Wallace Bulley, cornets; Henry Eighmey, clarinet, and Howard Stevens, saxophone. Miss Marion Coutant accompanying. During the evening, the orchestra played several selections which were thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. Rowland then asked the Rev. Lucas Boeve to pronounce the invocation. Quite some entertainment was provided by Clifford Van Valkenburgh, playing a violin solo, "Salut D'Amour" with Miss Coutant at the piano, and Henry S. Van Der Zee singing "River Stay W. From My Door," accompanied by Danny Bittner. Paul Zucca led the group in singing some ever popular pieces, then the reports of the evening were heard.

Totals—Division "C" 56 $532

Quite some interest was manifest when the bonus prizes of $100 were awarded to Captain Earl Leemon for having the largest number of subscription; and to A. J. Burns for having the largest amount of any team. The reports of these two teams should inspire the men of the other teams to greater efforts.

The recapitulation is as follows:

Division "B" 26 212.00
Division "C" 56 532.00
Executive Committee 800.00

Totals for today... 154 $2,082.75

At the conclusion of the report, Clarence S. Schoonmaker was called upon, and congratulated the workers on the fine showing for the opening night. He stated that during the next few days he felt sure the men would work extra hard to accomplish the goal which had been set.

James Lee Ellenwood, general secretary of the New York State Y. M. C. A., was present and spoke. Mr. Ellenwood tried throughout his talk to prove that people of today were not spending so much time as they did a few years ago in thinking of material things. They are more worried over the problems of spiritual nature. The atmosphere of false valuation created a few years ago, is being dispelled and real values are gradually working to the fore. Life today is not interpreted in the same terms it was two and a half years ago, but rather in terms of character.

He stressed particularly the present crime problem especially among young men. He stated that in one city of New York State, one out of every eleven boys was before a juvenile delinquency court in 1930. In another city, out of 4,500 boys, there were 1,000 cases in the courts during the year 1931. "Laws have been passed, but that hasn't stopped crime. It must be by the moral and spiritual attitude of the people. Herbert Hoover a short time ago, sent an appeal to men that those who were in need should not suffer—the people of the country performed a miracle of the ages in turning in a huge amount of money to be used in relief work," he said.

He closed by stating the present campaign was more than a campaign, that it was a fight to continue the work of building character. That the men would receive a satisfaction, thrill and kick from being a part of this campaign organization to carry on the work of this association.

Mr. Ellenwood was loudly applauded for his fine address, and a new spirit seemed to be present among the workers.

Begin Investigation Of Administration Under Gov. Roosevelt

Albany, N. Y., April 14 (AP).—The Republican investigation of Governor Roosevelt's Democratic administration opens today with the investigators professing a sincere desire to effect economies in New York's governmental machinery and the Governor and his department heads promising full cooperation.

The investigation, a surprising development of the last session of the state legislature, will expose the working of eighteen departments with their 30,000 employees.

Although the Republicans are emphatic that their inventory is intended only to find ways and means to reduce the expenses of the state it is obvious that expositions of mismanagement or extravagance would provide campaign material in this year when a president and a governor will be elected.

State Senator George R. Fearon of Syracuse, Republican leader, and ex-officio member of the investigating committee, declared the legislators hoped to trim up to $50,000,000 out of the state's expenses. The budget of the last legislature was $207,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt answered that unless the state curtailed its expenses for schools, prisons, insane asylums, highway maintenance, old age pensions and such institutions, economies could come only in the operating appropriations, $52,900,000, which goes largely into salaries and wages.

Republican speakers in the Assembly and the Senate repeatedly proclaimed the issue of this year's state campaign was economy and lowered taxation. W. Kingsland Macy, Republican chairman, placed the blame for rising state expenses on policies championed by Governors Smith and Roosevelt.

INCOME TAX ERRORS MAKE WORK FOR COLLECTORS

Albany, N. Y., April 14 (AP).—The work of the state income tax collectors would be considerably lighter, but for the people who insist on paying more taxes than they should.

One taxpayer several days ago sent a check for $999, whereas his tax was really only $90. Another whose tax was $5 sent a check for $60. A university professor paid $720 instead of $480, the correct amount.

The checks were returned to these citizens and they were asked to remit the correct amount. Tomorrow is the last day for filing returns.

Father Scully Named On State Advisory Board of Relief

Pastor of St. Mary's Church Appointed to State-wide Advisory Committee on Temporary Emergency Relief Administration.

The Very Rev. Joseph B. Scully, pastor of St. Mary's Church and dean of the diocese including Ulster county, has been appointed to the State-wide Advisory Committee which is to cooperate with the Temporary Emergency Relief Administration in relieving the people of New York state from the hardships and suffering caused by unemployment.

In notifying Father Scully of his appointment, Robert E. Dillon of Buffalo, chairman, said: "It is felt that your presence on this committee together with other civic leaders throughout the state would materially assist in more efficient administering this state relief. The present emergency existing throughout the state requires that we have the benefit of your advice and counsel."

Besides Father Scully, other prominent civic and educational leaders have been appointed as follows: E. W. Allen, vice president of the General Electric Company, Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins of Nyack; Dr. Paul Shipman Andrews, dean of the College of Law, Syracuse University; Mrs. Murray Bartlett of Hobart College; Hon. John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie; Mrs. William Dick Spoorborg, president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs; Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell University.

In a recent statement, Chairman Philip J. Wicks of the State Temporary Emergency Relief Administration, explained the work of the board to which Father Scully has been appointed as follows:

"To meet the very great emergency which still exists the help of public spirited citizens to supplement and coordinate state and local official action has been required. With this in view, the State Temporary Emergency Relief Administration has been in contact with leading citizens throughout the state."

A definite movement was inaugurated at a meeting in New York city, at which Mrs. August Belmont presided, looking to the formation of a state-wide Advisory Council. In addition to her present duties on the New York City Emergency Unemployment Relief Committee, Mrs. Belmont acted for the State Administration as Temporary Chairman of the Advisory Council, and will continue to serve as one of the members from New York city. Acceptances from all over the state have now been received from citizens who have volunteered to serve. Robert E. Dillon of Buffalo has accepted the chairmanship.

The purpose of the Council is to acquaint the citizens of the state with present conditions and needs and with the various programs, state and local, for relief. It will further organize local effort in various ways designed to assist local authorities in coping with the emergency, and, in particular, will devise ways for the women of the state, individually and collectively, to assist in the general state-wide relief movement.

Mrs. Victor Taylor, 35, of No. 55 Elmendorf street, is in the Kingston Hospital badly injured, while her Ford coach is at Millard & Son's garage for repairs, as the result of the car being struck by the early morning passenger train on the Catskill Mountain Division of the New York Central Railroad on the Downs street crossing. The train left the West Shore station at 7:40 o'clock this morning for Oneonta and crashed into the Ford car a few minutes later.

The impact of the train and the automobile was heard by Charles Harley, an employee of the Duty-men's League whose plant is along side the crossing. He ran out and picked up Mrs. Taylor placed her in an automobile and rushed her to the Kingston Hospital, and then reported the accident to the police department.

At the hospital it was found that Mrs. Taylor had sustained a deep cut in her side and injuries to her head. She bled profusely from the wound in her side. Later she was seen at the hospital by Officer Wesley Cramer, of the police department, and questioned regarding the accident.

Mrs. Taylor told the officer that she was driving over Downs street toward Foxhall avenue and was proceeding slowly. As she approached the crossing, which is located a short distance from Broadway on Downs street, she found the crossing unprotected with no flagman to be seen and no warning of any kind that a train was approaching. She said she first knew of the train was when it was too late.

Mrs. Taylor said she was alone at the time of the crash. She said the New York Central took over the former Ulster and Delaware Railroad all of the flagmen employed at the various railroad crossings of the former U. and D. road have been released.

The Downs street crossing is a particularly dangerous crossing as there is considerable traffic there. The New York Central recently took up the matter of having the present flashing light signal which guards the East Chester street crossing taken down and installed at the Downs street crossing with the railroad committee of the Common Council, but it is understood that all railroad crossings in the city should be protected.

When the accident was first reported to the police it was not known who the woman was, and her identity was established by her driver's license which was found in her handbag. At the time she obtained her license she resided at 91 Main street, Ellenville.

The front end of the Ford coach was badly wrecked and later it was towed to Millard & Son's garage.

Three of the prisoners transferred were second offenders who received five year terms, two were first time men with shorter sentences. Abram Bedford, Jerry O'Connor and George Hicks will serve five year terms and Hugh Magan and Allan Ward will serve terms from one and a half to three years.

CHARGE IRREGULARITIES IN CHICAGO ELECTION.
Chicago, April 14 (AP).—A charge of widespread voting irregularities in Chicago was made today as returns from Tuesday's primary election continued to pile up pluralities for favored candidates of both parties.

Although trailing United States Senator Otis F. Glenn by about 15,000 votes, Newton W. Jenkins, candidate for the Republican nomination for Senator, issued a statement predicting ultimate victory for himself by 50,000 votes and charging fraud in the election.

Lindberghs Failed To Find Security on Sourland Mountain

May Give Up Newly Finished Big White House Where They Sought Seclusion From Outside World—Was Not Permanent Residence Until Kidnaping.

By SAMUEL G. BLACKMAN,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Hopewell, N. J., April 13.—Hansen's estate failed to bring the Lindberghs the seclusion they sought.

To the big white house they built on Sourland's mountain top, second highest peak in the state, there came not the solitude but anguish, which will be a lifetime memory.

The man who flew the Atlantic alone, and Anne Morrow, the girl he courted and married, had scarcely retreated from a curious and admiring public and settled down in their secluded house, before the kidnaping of their 20-month-old son, Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., dealt a blow to their happiness.

Now there is a report, unconfirmed
by the Colonel, that they will sell their estate, shorn by the kidnaping of all glamour and seclusion.

It took months to build the $50,000 house. Workmen carried materials up the four-mile, stony road, and over three-quarters of a mile of silted loam. Only a few weeks before the kidnaping on March 1, painters finished their task inside the house. Some curtains had not yet been hung, and an inquirer who late in February sought a description of the interior was told the rooms were not entirely furnished.

Strangely enough, not until the kidnaping did the couple take on the appearance of a permanent home.
Until the day the baby was stolen,
the estate had been a week-end retreat for the flier and his wife. There they occasionally entertained friends, usually departing on Monday, the Colonel for his New York office and his wife for the Englewood home of her mother, Mrs. Dwight Morrow.

Since the kidnaping, Mrs. Lindbergh has not left the estate and the Colonel has done so only a few times.
The stone Tudor house, painted white and trimmed in green, is in the shape of a letter E, and contains about 15 rooms. The main doorway on the east side admits to a small hall. This leads to a large living room with two fireplaces. The kitchen, pantries and a screened-in back porch are to the right. Two small chambers, one a guest room and the other a den, are to the left.

The three-car garage, over which are the servants' quarters, juts out to form a wing at the right of the entrance.

Bedrooms are on the second floor, and in a far corner of the southern wing is the nursery where the baby slept the night he was stolen.

In the front of the house is a yard, its outer boundary marked by a three-foot whitewashed wall of native stone.

To the east, west, north and south, the 460-acre estate is a woodland evergreen trees and scrub oaks.

Those who know the region well tell of caves galore—Rock House, Devil's and Roaring Rock. There are countless rocks and Fort Hanco, the latter a cave where they say Billy Hanco hid during the Revolutionary War to escape duty.

That is Sourland, land that is sour—the mountain home the Lind-berghs may leave.

C. K. GOODRICH
Librarian

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees on Monday, April 11, the following resolution was adopted:

It is with the deepest sense of loss that the Board of Trustees of the Kingston City Library takes action on the death of John W. Eckert.

Though a member of the board
but a short time, Mr. Eckert's wise councils, vigorous action and dynamic personality will be sorely missed in the deliberations of that body.

In spite of innumerable demands upon his time, Mr. Eckert was always faithful in his attendance at meetings, always generous of his time and his interest, always eager to assist his associates in carrying on the work of the Library for the best interests of the community at large.

It is therefore the wish of the Board that a resolution be inscribed on the minutes of this meeting, testifying to their deep appreciation of Mr. Eckert's rare qualities, and to their profound regret at his untimely passing.

SCHOOL NO. 7 P. T. A. PLANS CIRCUS SHOW ON MAY 6.

The regular meeting of the P. T. A. of School No. 7 was held on Tuesday evening at the school building.
Although it was the regular meeting it proved unusual because of the type of program. Nominations for officers for the new year were passed and will be voted upon at the regular meeting in May. Also extensive plans were made for the circus show which is to be held May 6, at the school, when there will be clowns, trapeze artists, magicians, circus parade, side shows, minstrels and band. Some of the leading business men will take the leading parts and every room in the school will be represented.

The business meeting was followed by the reading of essays which had been written by the pupils on "What I Think of My Father." These were read and commented upon by Mr. Hensley, principal of the school.
This proved most interesting, depicting in vivid pictures the home life of many.

The meeting adjourned and delicious sandwiches and coffee were served.

Remarkable Elm
At Kingston, Cal., is an elm from which white currants, red currants and green gooseberries are gathered.
The only drawback is that the fruit is bitter. The phenomenon does not come from man-made graft. The fruit bushes are rooted independently in crotches of the elm.

A new kind of salesman comes to your door...

WHEN the man who carries the yellow carton comes to your door, you will find that he is not a professional salesman, but a man who has chiefly a single product to offer—his own skilled services. He is a qualified electric wiring man, and his call is a part of a campaign by local electrical contractors to keep their journeyman electricians at work in slack times.

That extra convenience outlet you need, that extra light for the garage or porch, special outlet for radio or electric clock, or any other wiring work, can be done now at advantage to you as well as benefit to the community. The man who calls will himself do the work, but under the direction of a "Certified" electrical contractor. Simply list the things you may want done.
The wiring man will secure an accurate price estimate, a sketch showing location of work, and information about terms of payment which are especially liberal now.

By responding to this canvass for wiring work you will gain for yourself the advantage of prices that are now unusually low, and you will put a man to work, thus making a definite contribution to the lessening of unemployment locally.

Prosecution Rests In Fortescue Case

Hamlet, April 14 (AP).—Emerson, by many threads of the prosecution, today the jury of Joseph Fortescue, four persons accused of the killing watched today for Clarence Fortescue to go into action for their defense with tactics shrouded in secrecy up to the last minute.

Except for one witness, public prosecutor John C. Kelley finished his case yesterday with testimony that broke the frigid composure of the accused society matron, Mrs. Granville Fortescue.

Her shoulders moved expressively when two neighbor women testified to hearing a shot from the direction of her home at 4 p. m. January 8, when Kahahawai allegedly was killed there to avenge a criminal attack on Mrs. Thalia Massie, daughter of Mrs. Fortescue.

Previously Mrs. Fortescue had burst into tears at the mention of Mrs. Massie's name by a jail matron who testified she had asked Mrs. Fortescue if her daughter had recovered from the attack.

With gruesome exhibits—a bloody sheet, a strip of one sheet taken from Mrs. Fortescue when she was arrested in a motor car with Kahahawai's body, and a coil of rope found in the Fortescue home—the prosecutor wove his case, aided by many witnesses.

"We need about fifteen minutes more, judge," he said, "but would like to have it tomorrow. We may have one more witness."

"We will be ready," said Darrow quickly, and court adjourned.

The remaining witness is Mrs. Joseph Kahahawai, Sr., mother of the slain athlete, who wept silently as Kelly reached the climax of his effort to send Mrs. Fortescue and three navy men to prison for the killing. She probably will be called to identify a cap found in the Fortescue home as that of her son.

What Darrow would do for a defense had the prosecution as well as the general public guessing. Time and again he dismissed prosecution witnesses with "That's all, no questions."

His apparent passivity served to build up a belief he would seek to free Mrs. Fortescue. Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones by fairly branding the lynchings as an avenging act. But he only smiled when queried about it.

Spain Celebrates Fall Of Monarchy

Madrid, April 14 (AP).—Millions of Spanish Republicans, in their brightest holiday attire, celebrated today the first anniversary of the fall of the Bourbon monarchy and the founding of the republic.

Throughout the country there were fireworks, parades with band and floats, paraded, hands played, folk dances and the voice of orators telling of the birth of democratic government. The celebrations were climaxed with the colorful flower battles, so dear to Spanish hearts.

The celebration began last night with a grand parade of floats in Madrid, arranged by Indalecio Prieto, one of the little group of republican leaders who a year ago today were meeting, following the abdication of King Alfonso, to lay the first plans for the new government.

President Alcala Zamora and members of the cabinet, all of them members of the original group that brought about the fall of the monarchy, participated in the festivities.

Senator Wicks on New York Committee

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston today received from Mayor James J. Walker an appointment to the membership of the New York city committee on the celebration of the 100th anniversary of George Washington's birth. The honor is the second conferred upon Senator Wicks in connection with the Washington bicentennial as he is vice chairman of the state committee.

The senator left Kingston today for New York where he will attend the testimonial dinner for Philip Elting at the National Republican Club tonight.

TWO MIST CHUMS FIND THEMSELVES WED TO SAME MAN

Young Wives Also Learn Their Husband Had Been Married and Divorced.

Kansas City, Mo.—Two young women who have known each other from childhood, who attended the same school and who had the same friends, have just discovered that they have the same husband.

The mutual husband is Howard Hare, twenty-nine. The two wives, who caused his arrest, are Mrs. Martha Schultz Hare and Mrs. Esther Lou Foss Hare.

In addition Hare has a divorced wife, Mrs. Helen Hare, in Quincy, Ill., and two children. Hare obtained a divorce from his first wife six months after he had married Miss Schultz.

Hare and his second wife have been separated since her discovery that there was another Mrs. Hare in Quincy.

The two wives wept as Hare was sentenced to ten years in the Missouri penitentiary on two charges of bigamy. Judge Thomas J. Seehorn gave Hare the maximum sentence of five years on each charge.

Before passing sentence Judge Seehorn asked T. A. J. Mastin, assistant prosecutor who had taken statements from Hare and the two wives, what he thought of the case. Mastin bitterly assailed Hare.

"He has deceived two good, hard-working girls," Mastin said. "It's a shame, because there will be a blot on their minds because of the incident that they can never erase. He should receive the maximum sentence."

Hare flushed when Mastin made his statement. The wives began to cry. Sues for Divorce.

The marriage of Hare and Miss Martha Schultz, attractive twenty-four-year-old brunette, occurred August 16, 1930, after a whirlwind courtship. Of course Miss Schultz did not know at the time that he was married. They lived together only four months before they separated. The wife brought suit for divorce despite the embarrassment that it caused at the telephone company office, where she was employed in the same department with Hare.

"I almost forgot about the divorce when Howard and I were beginning to make up after his explanation of the failure to divorce his first wife," she sobbed. "He had divorced his first wife by this time."

"Then—I learned he was married to another woman," she stammered out jerkily. "That was terrible."

She said that she investigated through the telephone company's records and learned that the rumor was true. She learned that Hare had married her school chum, Esther Lou Foss.

Miss Foss was a long-distance operator. After Miss Schultz had discovered who the other woman in the case was, she communicated with Mrs. Hare No. 3, who informed her that she and Hare were living together at the Knickerbocker Plaza.

They Confront Hare. They made arrangements over the telephone to go to the Westchester Avenue police station, where they recited their plight to Sgt. O. E. D. Koonse. Koonse accompanied them to Hare's apartment.

When the two wives, Sgt. Koonse and Guy Foss, brother of Miss Foss, went to Hare's apartment and confronted Hare with the marriage, he admitted his guilt.

"Yes, you're both my wives," he told the girls. "I love you both. I love Helen, my first wife."

"Why did you do it?" they asked him.

"I don't know," he replied. The next morning when the two wives went to police headquarters Hare smiled wanly at them.

The two wives attended the Lutheran school together from the first grade until their graduation. Only a few weeks ago had they met and talked over old times. Yet neither revealed to the other the status of their marital affairs.

It was not until several weeks after this meeting that Miss Schultz learned that Hare had married Miss Foss at Merriam, Kan., on December 19.

Laughing Gas Subdues Hoot Owl After Attack

Crescent City, Calif.—A huge hoot owl, which attacked Dr. A. De Martin in his dental office, here, was vanquished with gas.

The perverse bird entered quietly through the transom, seized the dentist from behind with sharp talons and beat his head with long wings.

Doctor De Martin yelled for help. F. Snodgrass, mail carrier, ran to his aid.

Together they beat the bird with forceps, drills and other dental tools. When the owl weakened, they held it in the chair and gave it gas. Then they threw it out the window.

They said the owl flew away laughing drunkenly.

Weighty Task Solved
but Work Goes Unpaid

Logansport, Ind.—A would be thief got a surprise here.

After much effort, he broke open the rear of a weighing machine.

When no pennies rolled out, the miscreant walked to the front of the machine.

"Four Weight Free" was placarded in large letters.

These Three "Firsts"

The expression, "First in, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen" may be interpreted as meaning that George Washington was victorious in war, was first to head the new government, and was ranked as the most loved by his compatriots.

BONUS SPONSORS PERSIST DESPITE FEDERAL PLAN

Washington, April 14 (AP).—Although they considered the Federal Reserve Board's new plans for expanding credit yesterday, the leaders in the move to pay off in cash the soldiers' bonus remained steadfast today in determination to force their project to a vote.

Conferring with Federal Reserve officials, they came to the conclusion, Representative Patman of Texas announced, that the board's project for making the banks use more of the credit facilities extended by new legislation would not reach the mass of the people.

Patman and his group base the fight largely on the argument that getting $2,000,000,000 into the hands of the veterans will act as a groundswell of new purchasing power to restore business.

With little expectation of obtaining approval of the ways and means committee, the bonus men plan, as soon as the current hearings end, to petition for a vote in the House. They are confident of success and of passing a bill. Just what form this will take still is undecided, but there is developing sentiment for the plan of former Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, for issuing four per cent government bonds, which in turn would be made the basis for Federal Reserve notes. These would be paid to the veterans.

SCHOOL NO. 2 P.-T. A. HAD MEETING ON TUESDAY

The regular meeting of P.-T. A. School No. 2 was held Tuesday, April 12, at 8:30 p. m. Mrs. Abbott, the president, opened the meeting with the salute to the flag followed by the singing of "America."

WIND-ELECTRIC PLANT

The Germans, whom we used to accuse of slavishly following leaders and submitting to authority, but who seem willing to try anything, are building the highest structure in the world. Height is no novelty and no treat to Americans, but the use of it being put in this case is interesting, as a book-reviewer would say.

There are going to be windmills on that building. It is a tower of structural iron. The general effect of it, when completed and equipped, may be that of the familiar windmill used for pumping water in American farmyards. But it will surmount all other landscape features, will have several windmills instead of one, and will use its wind power to develop electric current, to be used for heating hothouses in the vicinity.

It is strange that America, with its early start and notable development in high buildings and electric equipment, has never done this.
 Charles Brush, the inventor of the carbon arc light, used to light his house from a dynamo driven by a windmill in the yard, nearly half a century ago, but little has ever been done with the idea. Wind-motor combinations might be practical in many sections of the country. Steel towers might be covered with windmills for light, power and heat. Why does not some American manufacturer put on the market a practical wind-electric unit?

THE FEATHERED SERPENT.

At last a link seems to have been found which connects prehistoric Americans with Asia. It has long been thought that the Indians and their predecessors on this continent originated in Asia, but there was no proof.

The evidence found by Dr. Hermann Walde-Waldge of Colombia, in old writings made by missionaries in Central America, certainly seems to show a similarity of culture. The key to the revelation is the feathered snake. This curious symbol is said to represent the creator god of the Mayans in Yucatan and is found among other Mexican and Central American tribes. It is associated, apparently, with the Chinese and Japanese dragon or winged serpent, not only in form, but in religious significance and name. Taking the Mayan syllables ku-kul, meaning the Quetzal bird, and kan, meaning snake, the investigator believes he has a key to the unknown language.
 He finds similarities in Asiatic words.

In this strange symbol, the snake stands for earth and the feathers or wings for heaven, suggesting a religious union of the two. The serpent of the Garden of Eden will not be overlooked in this connection. Another striking fact is the similarity of the name Ku-kul-kan to Ku Klux Klan.

SAVE HALF A BILLION.

The United States Chamber of Commerce jumps into the public economy game and demands a cut of $500,000,000 in federal expenses.
 Thus American business insists that government should recognize facts which business has been recognizing for two years, and act accordingly.
 This demand for drastic public economy along with reasonable tax increases is upheld by 1,200 groups of men representing the business and professional sentiment of as many communities.

It is unfortunate that this emphatic action comes so late. The House has already put through its tax revision program. The Senate's plans are largely formed. Time is short. But it is surely possible yet to accomplish something effective in the way of rational budget-balancing, through the common-sense process of lowering expenses on one hand while raising taxes on the other.
 Congress so far has acted as if government expenditures were irre-ducible. If they are, there are only two things that make them so. One is governmental inertia and the other is politics for profit. It is hard to cut salaries and red tape, hard to abolish established bureaus and departments, hard to threaten the fat incomes of politicians and friends of politicians. But it should and could be done. The Chamber of Commerce demand is reasonable.

A folding stairway, a dressing platform and a dormer window are the chief attractions of a new type of upper berth designed for sleeping cars. The platform is at the foot of the bed and below its level, permitting a passenger to stand erect for part of the undressing and dressing processes. Diagrams and detailed description, if not actual experiment with the new gadget, would be necessary to understand this improvement in all its beauty.
 The notable fact is that the Pullman company is obviously working on the problem of improving the comfort and convenience of passengers.
 It is one way to fight stiff competition. Railroad sleepers have needed improvement for a long time.

PROTEIN FOODS IMPORTANT

If physicians who graduated ten or more years ago were asked what were the food stuffs of the body they would say there were the five
 (a) proteins as eggs and meat (b) starches as bread, potatoes and other vegetables (c) fats as cream, butter, and fat meat (d) the mineral salts, and (e) water. Only the first three—proteins, starches, and fats
 —are really used as fuel.

However to this list of five has been added the vitamins, which while not separated out as foods or in foods, nevertheless are absolutely necessary for growth and to maintain the health.

Thus in these days there are the six varieties of foodstuffs, each one doing its definite part in building up the body, and giving it the necessary energy to do its work.

The proteins—meat and eggs—are found everywhere in animals and vegetables; their principal work as food is to supply the material to build up the body in growing children and to replace worn out tissue in adults.

Proteins while able to give the body some energy, are used because of the nitrogen they contain. This nitrogen must enter into the formation of every cell in the body.

And these protein foods must be eaten every day; that is a youngster must drink milk and an adult some meat or eggs, everyday. If the body is to grow or have worn parts replaced, of course there are some vegetables rich in proteins—peas and beans—which if eaten in large quantities may replace meat or eggs to some extent.

It is this fact then that proteins must enter into the structure of the body that makes them the important item in the food intake.

When you eat starches and fats it is quite possible to not only get the energy you need from them, but if you are not doing much work or taking much exercise, some of this fat will be stored away as fat in the tissues, as sugar in the muscles, and as glycogen or sugar in the liver. Thus you can do without starches and fats for a considerable time.

Not so however with proteins.
 Proteins must be eaten everyday because they are not stored as are fats and starches.

The thought then is that while starches and fats give you the energy to work, proteins—meat, eggs, milk, peas, and beans—enter into the structure of every cell, and some protein must be eaten every day.

KITTY FREW

by JANE ARBOTH

SYNOPSIS: After her sister-in-law, Carol, married Paul Somerset, who is expected to succeed in an automobile accident, Kitty Frew returns to her husband, Gar, in the year 1932. Gar has come out with a new car, a really fine one, but she is ready to forget him when they meet her.

Chapter 35

MARGE'S PLOT IS REVEALED

THEY'S going to operate on Mr.
 Somerset today. Gar may be they're doing it now. Miss Bixby whispered to Kitty.

While Gar slept, Kitty, sitting beside him, pondered on the consequences of Carol's marriage. If Paul Somerset lived, would she regret it? No—she knew Carol well enough, now, to answer that. Her pieces of any sort, the simple fact of belonging to some one, would make Carol over.

Gar stirred in his sleep, muttered.
 His brows drew sharply together.
 His face had thinned, lost its boyishness. Kitty noticed little lines about his mouth. For a moment she was all maternal, leaning toward him, yearning over him. And then a great anger mounted in her heart against the woman who was his mother; every weakness in Gar—ah, she knew them, now—was of that mother's making.

"And I almost failed him!"
 He turned his head slowly. Kitty saw a little terror in his eyes.

"I guess I was dreaming. I thought you'd gone!" He clung to her hand.

She stroked his hands, his face,
 his hair. She kissed him.

His voice lifted, excitedly. "Kitty, I've got to tell you—"

"Gar, darling, you don't need to tell me anything now. Wait—"
 "I don't want to wait. I want you to know. It'll bother me until you do. But, Kitty, you've got to help me get it straight!"

She held his hand in both of hers to give herself courage as well as to steady him.

Gar had turned his face away from her. She had to lean closer to him to catch his low, halting voice.

"I don't know how I got started.
 Kit, I do know this—I loved you all the time. Marge was always getting me up to her house about one thing and another. And she began talking about going away—staying away—It sort of got me.
 I'd always liked her a lot. We'd been—well, you see, before I met you I always thought she was the only girl."

"Gar, I understand—"

He shook his head, his face still averted from hers.

"It was all right until I began lying to you about where I'd been.
 I hated it but I was afraid to tell you. It was easier to let you think I was at rehearsals. It was so easy
 —God, Kit, guess I'm a rotter."

"Gar, Gar, please!" Kitty's hands shook over his.

"Marge told me she was going away because—because of us." He was silent for an interval. And Kitty's throat went dry and stiff so that she could say no word. "She was—I thought she was terribly unhappy. It bothered me a lot."

And after that things were different. She said she didn't care what happened. And there was Somerset. She told me she might run away with him. That got me. Kit, am I making you see?"

"Yes, Gar."

"That night—when we quarreled
 so—I went home. I told mother we were through, you and I. You'd said so, Kit. And I was—I guess I was crazy. Mother was wonderful—she was so calm. She told me —you see Marge had told her how things were—Kit, I can't believe it, now. We talked about my getting a divorce. Marrying Marge. And the next day—Marge called me—
 she wanted me to come over to say good-by— And we talked— She asked me to go to Paris—she asked me to meet her there—she said if I didn't she would—I didn't say I'd go. Kit. Believe me. But I felt desperate. I thought I'd lost you.
 And, when I wouldn't promise, Marge got angry. She told me she was going to run off with Somerset. She called me later from the Rainbow Gardens—she's gone there with him—she called me to say—Well, it got me. It was after midnight—I drove out there and I told her I'd come for her. We got into my car—and Somerset followed us in hers. He was mad. I don't know just what happened—he tried to stop me and the cars sideswiped and that's all—"

Gar's halting voice finished on a long, fretful sigh.

Kitty was shaking. She tried to make a sound but her throat, her lips were too stiff. She burned with anger at his mother, at Marge.

 was fighting on the Gallipoli front in Virginia, during the Civil war, he was who had advanced so to play on his headlessness.

"I won't tell you. I won't tell you!" her heart was crying while her lips kept their stiff silence.
 Gar drew his hand from hers.
 "Did you get it straight, Kit? I loved you all the time. But I guess it doesn't matter, now. I guess now that you know, you're through."

But, Gar, I'm not. I'm not! We're just beginning. We're just beginning one another—now. We're together!"

His head turned slowly. There were tears in his eyes and a boyish unbelief. She laughed shakily, put her lips to his.

"Oh, Gar, that we should have been afraid of one another! There were things I didn't tell you because I was afraid. Little things that didn't matter. I was seeing David often, and his friends, and Carol and I was afraid to tell you because you wouldn't understand.
 And I was too critical and—oh, Gar, we were just stumbling! And we love one another so—"

Her tears wet his face; her lips clung to his.
 "Kit—" his voice was scarcely above a whisper. "Kit, I swear to God that I'm going to be worthy of you. I'm going to be a man."

"Gar, let's move away from that apartment—"

"You're going to have everything your way, sweet. I'll do whatever you want me to."

"I love you, Gar."

"Kit, did — did Somerset —"

"Marge wasn't hurt, Gar. She's gone away with her mother. And Somerset—they don't know, yet."

She could not risk telling him of Carol's and Somerset's marriage.

"Poor devil—I hope he gets out of it." Gar's brows drew together.

"Kit—I think Marge used him. I don't think she intended for a minute—going off with him."

Kitty dropped her eyes to conceal her satisfaction. That Gar, now, should see that! Oh, he had come to wisdom.

The afternoon wore on, drowsily.
 Miss Bixby found an opportunity to tell Kitty that "the other fellow" had stood the operation better than the doctors had expected.

At four o'clock Mrs. Frew came in with Doctor Harrington. She smiled sweetly at Kitty. "Aren't you exhausting yourself, my dear?"

She kissed Gar's forehead. She was composed, gracious, charming.

"Do you think by tomorrow he can be moved, Doctor?" she asked when he had examined Gar.

"If his chart shows another good night. With a nurse—"

The doctor looked at Miss Bixby.
 "I have asked Miss Bixby if she'll come to the house. And I will take a night nurse, too."

"I don't see any reason for him to stay here," the doctor affirmed.
 Gar's glance went questioning to his mother.

"What's it all about?"

"I am taking you home, dear boy." She beamed fondly down at him.

Gar smiled, boyishly.

"Home? That'd be great—to get out of here. But—" his glance sought out Kitty where she stood, straight, sober-faced, behind the others. "It's all up to Kit! She's my boss, you know. What say, Kit?"

Sweet words—they flooded her.
 She took a little step forward. She did not look at Mrs. Frew.

"We'll do whatever will make you most comfortable, Gar. I think it will be nice if ye can go to your mother's house until you're all well." She was clean swept with a great joy. She wasn't afraid!

She shared Gar's boyish eagerness. They talked after Mrs. Frew and the doctor went away. "You'll stick close to me, won't you, sweet?"

She promised.

She left him at nine o'clock and went to the next room. She lay for a while on the narrow bed, thinking over all that the day had brought—Carol's strange marriage.
 Gar's confession, her own sudden yielding to Mrs. Frew's wishes, with its moment of triumph when she knew she was not afraid.

It had been an exhausting day, yet, though physically, emotionally weary, Kitty was strangely happy and at peace. "I'm strong enough for anything!" she thought as she closed her eyes to seek sleep.

She was awakened by Miss Bixby shaking her. Miss Bixby wore a thin kimono over her night clothes.
 Her hair was hanging down over her back. Her lips hung open and her eyes were frightened.

Was something happened to Gar

ALABAMA FARMERS BOOST COTTON CROP $2,000,000.

Auburn, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's cotton improvement campaign added $2,000,000 to the value of last year's crop.
 That figure, J. C. Lowery, of the extension staff at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, said, is conservative. It is based on the fact that 37 per cent of the 1930 crop was untenderable (staple length shorter than 3 1/2 of an inch) and that in 1931 this figure was reduced 7.9 per cent.

The improvement campaign is designated to eradicate inferior grades of cotton in the state.

"In bales," Lowery explained, "this meant 545,750 bales of untenderable cotton in 1930 and only 112,000 in 1931. The difference multiplied by the increased value created by improving the length and quality of the staple revealed that it exceeded $2,000,000."

Cooperating with farmers, ginners held special gin days for the improved varieties of cotton, saving more than 1,000,000 bushels of seed, enough to plant one-third of the 1932 crop. From these plantings enough seed can be saved next fall to plant all the state's crop in 1933 with an improved variety of staple.

J. E. Kraft Honored By Kingston Lodge

The meeting of Kingston Lodge No. 10, F. and A. M., on Tuesday evening was one of the most interesting in the long life of that historic Masonic organization.

The principal feature was the presentation to the Hon. John E. Kraft, long connected with Free Masonry in this country, a cheque for $100 on the 50th anniversary of his great achievements for the Masonic fraternity.

The members of the lodge unanimously selected Judge Clearwater to make the presentation address.

Years ago when Mr. Kraft owned and edited the Kingston Daily Leader it was bitter in its attacks upon the lodge both in its official capacity as district attorney of Ulster county, and as chairman of the Republican County Central Committee of Ulster and of the other counties in this congressional district.

These attacks seemed to have taken on a strong personal animosity.

In presenting the cheque the judge did not allude to this, confining himself to reciting and praising the efforts of Mr. Kraft to advance and elevate the cause of free masonry in public esteem.

In acknowledging the cheque, Mr. Kraft referred to the old animosity that so long had existed between himself and the judge, saying he appreciated as highly the judge's magnanimity in consenting to present the gift and his reticence as to past disagreements as he did the gift itself. He recited some of the causes which had led to the divergence between them, and turning to the judge asked whether he correctly had named them, to which the judge replied that Mr. Kraft's memory was far better than his own; that long ago he had forgotten and forgiven these attacks and now that he stood upon the brink of eternity he thought only of the great service rendered by Mr. Kraft to the cause of Free Masonry.

To the 200 members who attended the meeting, it seemed at once strange and strong proof of the fitness of Masonic principles to see these two men, personal and political adversaries, standing side by side with the master of the lodge, both acknowledging and regretting the causes that so long had separated them, both happy that with advancing years they had buried the past and were united in the great cause of Masonic aid to the struggling and fallen brother.

Both were greeted with a prolonged applause that made the walls of the lodge room reverberate. The members cordially welcomed the suggestion of the oldest among them that they rank up in a procession and shake hands with both men.

This was done while the organist played that fine old southern tune, "My Old Kentucky Home."

Judge Clearwater for many years has been the representative of the Grand Lodge of the State of California, near the Grand Lodge of the State of New York, and wore the superb regalia of the Grand Lodge of California during the ceremonies.

SENATOR WICKS FAVORS MORE MONEY FOR HIGHWAYS

Albany, April 14—Three more Republican members of the State Legislature today assured their constituencies that they would vote for additional highway appropriations as an unemployment relief measure at the special session which Governor Roosevelt is expected to call. They are Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of Kingston, Senator Leon F. Wheatley, of Hornell, and Assemblyman J. Austin Otto, of Atlanta.

Senator Wicks not only gave assurance that he was unqualifiedly in favor of increased highway appropriations, but indicated his willingness to introduce the legislation. This is regarded as an especially significant reply to Governor Roosevelt's formal statement that he would call a special session when it became evident that he would have enough support to effect the passage of the desired legislation.

To date five Republican members of the Legislature have signified their intention of supporting a program of increased highway appropriations at a special session. The other two, who announced themselves this week, are Charles J. Peters, of Utica, and Robert A. Catchpole, of Geneva, both members of the Assembly.

Before the week is over it is confidently expected by the New York State Construction Council that several additional Republicans will have gone on record as favoring a special session for the purpose of providing more public construction as a practical form of unemployment relief.

"Chambers of Commerce, American Legion posts, service clubs, welfare organizations and even women's clubs throughout the state are working actively to give Governor Roosevelt tangible evidence that the people of New York are desperately serious in wanting this special session," according to a statement made yesterday by S. A. Stullen, chairman of the construction council.

March sales, expressed in tons, were estimated at 570,198 this year, compared with 552,825 in March, 1931. This is a decrease in quantity of merchandise sold of 32,027 tons, or 5.90%.

Average weekly sales in March were $17,782,438, compared with $20,948,459 in 1931, a decrease of $3,166,021. Average weekly tonnage sales were 104,000, compared with 110,565 in March 1931, a decrease of 6,565 tons.

FEDERAL AGENTS VISIT POUGHKEEPSIE GRILL.

The agents seized alleged rye, apple, Scotch, gin and home brew beer.

Knowledge Is Power
Tommy was fond of squeezing tooth paste out of his sister's new tube. His mother, finding it necessary to limit the amount of tooth paste in view, warned him was more-ing not to take too much.
Tommy—How much may I take?
Mother—Oh, a little bit, about the size of a bean.
Tommy gave the tube a tremendous pinch and out shot a long ribbon of paste.
Mother—Tommy! Do you wish to be punished? It's that size of a bean.
Tommy—Sure, Mom. This is a string bean.

Henry—How sweet of you to back that horse because it had the same name as mine.
Jacob—It had the same habits, too. It got there half an hour late!

John—Nothing.
Amos—How much money have you invested abroad?

SPECIAL EVENING SERVICES IN ST. PAUL LUTHERAN CHURCH

The Young People's Society of St. Paul Lutheran Church on Hasbrouck avenue has been assisting in the evening services during the past two Sundays. Last Sunday the following members participated: Misses Laura Kolts, Edna Renn, Sam Astollos, Gilbert Richter and Paul Astollos. On the coming Sunday evening six other members will assist. This work is doubly profitable. It adds inspiration to the services and indicates a public confession. The pastor will preach upon the subject, "Do We Need Religion Anymore and, If We Do, What Should Religion Bring Us?" The ladies of the choir faithfully sing for us every Sunday evening.

On May 1, in the evening, there will be a service commemorative of Washington's anniversary. Mr. Schoonmaker of the Y. M. C. A. will speak on "Washington, the Citizen," and the pastor will speak on "Washington, the Christian and His Religion."

K. H. S. Musicians Entertain Rotary

A pleasing and enthusiastically received vocal and instrumental program by a group of young men and women of Kingston High School was the program feature of the local Rotary Club at the weekly meeting Wednesday in the Governor Clinton Hotel. The young musicians rendered their short musical offerings like veterans, and the prolonged applause that followed their efforts clearly indicated the merits of the program.

William Avery of the Schenectady Rotary Club was called upon to say a few words regarding the 25th District Conference which will be held at Schenectady the 21st, 22nd, and 23rd of this month. Included in the well planned entertainment is a unique radio program that is so arranged for three Rotary Clubs of three different nations holding meetings simultaneously, one at breakfast, one at luncheon, and one at dinner, a Festival of Music, a trip to a night club, and the opportunity of seeing the General Electric House of Music. There are also a number of other unusual and unique entertainment features for Rotarians to enjoy while at the Conference.

The business meeting was taken up with the election of directors for the coming year. The outcome of the balloting showed the following Rotarians elected directors for the new term: Arthur Nelson, Henry Fagher, Alfred Schmid, W. Anderson

THE FAMOUS FIDDLE OWNED BY PHILIP DWYER

West Shokan, April 14—Philip Dwyer, the kindly philosopher of Dwyer's Corner, who by the way, has recently passed the three score and ten mark, has in his cherished possession a violin about which is woven an interesting history. This unique and full toned instrument came down to the ownership of Mr. Dwyer from his older brother, Patrick, who was murdered in the valley of the Yellowstone on Christmas day fifty-one years ago. Mr. Dwyer knew that his brother had bought the fiddle of "Coon" Crispell, a younger brother of "Uncle Jake"

Crispell, when he left for Michigan some sixty years ago, but regarding previous history of the instrument, Mr. Dwyer was left one material point in the dark. Knowing the above circumstances, as related by Mr. Dwyer, the writer recently while paying a visit to Uncle Jake approached him on the subject. Of course he knew about the fiddle, and why wouldn't he, as he himself had presented it to his brother "Coon". When a small boy "Uncle Jake" had been presented by his father with a rare instrument of those days, a double rowed mouth organ, for which the elder Mr. Crispell had paid 75 cents, or six shillings. "Uncle Jake's" "Uncle King", Abram Crispell, took a liking to the boy's mouth organ, and the boy also took a liking to "Uncle King's" fiddle, and finally a deal was made this way. "Uncle Jake", the boy, traded his harmonica, and with it two jugs of hard cider for the fiddle. But when "dad" heard about the deal the parental ire was kindled and "Uncle Jake's" prized fiddle reposed safely upstairs in dad's chest (which now stands at his bedside). One day when "Uncle Jake" had reached the strapping age of sixteen or seventeen, his father produced the fiddle, saying that if he wanted something to play on, he could learn to play on his fiddle. But "Uncle Jake" didn't want to play the violin then and he didn't either, he just made brother "Coon" a present of that blinky blank fiddle. But where or how his "Uncle King" came by the fiddle he doesn't know.

Perhaps he made it himself as the old Crispells could make most anything with iron, brass or wood, from a bear trap to a spinning wheel. As an illustration the writer has in his possession a spike jawed hand bear trap, also a slightly smaller smooth jawed wolf trap made by Martin Crispell, a brother of "Uncle King". These traps are well over a century old and the vintage of Philip Dwyer's fiddle goes back at the very least 55 years. And Mr. Dwyer can make that little old pine box ring like the harp through Tara's halls, just bet your boots he can.

Kingston: "Arrowsmith". The absorbing story of the young doctor-scientist who risks his own life and happiness for the sake of others, has been developed from the Sinclair Lewis novel into a powerful screen drama. The picture follows the book closely from start to finish, and Ronald Colman, in the role of Dr. Arrowsmith, proves that he is an actor of unusual ability and merit. The supporting cast includes Helen Hayes, who, as the wife of the humanitarian doctor, makes continual sacrifices in order that others may live. Richard Bennett also offers a noteworthy performance. There is a realness and charm about this talking picture that raises it into the exceptional class. Fine entertainment.

Orpheum: "Panama Flo" and "Riders of Golden Gulch." Helen Twelvrees is the star of the first picture, a story that has a background in New York city and Panama. Robert Armstrong and Charles Bickford are in the supporting cast. Buffalo Bill, Jr., is the star of the second feature.

Broadway: "Strangers in Love" and "Seven Acts of Paramount Vaudeville" on the stage. The talking picture gives Fredric March another opportunity of portraying a dual role in this exciting, well acted and entertaining show. It is the story of two brothers, one a crook, the other a prodigal. The crooked brother fixes the family will in order to get it all. The prodigal returns and the other to carry on in his place. Complicated perhaps, but good just the same. Others in a splendid cast include Kay Francis, Juliette Compton and Stuart Erwin, who puts across some laughable scenes. Seven acts of vaudeville feature the stage program, with orchestral accompaniment by Jacob Mollett and his orchestra.

Ritz: "The Squaw Man." This is probably the best version of this famous play that has graced stage and screen for years. Warner Baxter does excellent work in the title role, and the support of Lupe Velez, Charles Bickford, Raymond Hatton and Eleanor Boardman is all that could be desired. There are thrills galore in this talkie, some intensely dramatic moments, and fine acting by every character in the cast.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.

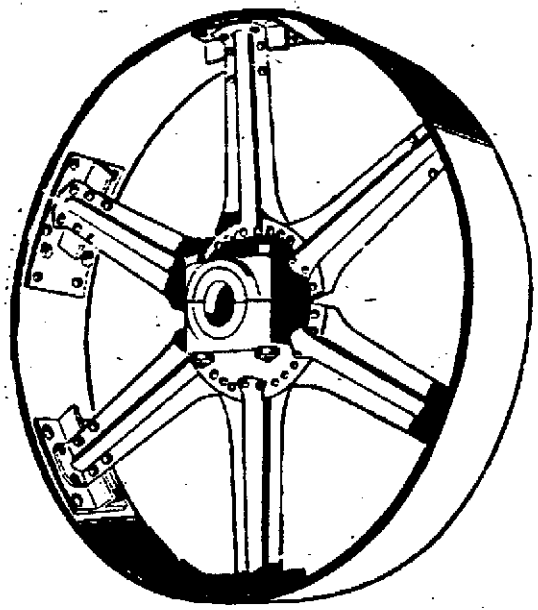

Orpheum: "City Lights." Charles Chaplin, king of the comies, in the role of a pathetic little tramp who falls in love with a blind girl who thinks him to be a rich and handsome gentleman. There are laughs and tears galore in this show.

Widely Used Medicines

Proprietary medicines belong to a class of medical preparations which are put up in uniform packages and offered for sale under a distinctive trademarked name. Many of these remedies are widely used and are frequently prescribed by physicians and are usually combinations of well-known drugs.

A LIGHT, STRONG, DURABLE PULLEY

The face of the Dodge Steel pulley is built to fit the belt. There are no grooves in the middle where belt strain is the heaviest, just an even steady pull. This maximum belt contact makes possible the practice of running belts loose, which lengthens belt life and reduces strain on the journal bearings.

The Dodge pulley combines great strength with light weight, eliminating all excess weight from the shaft with saving of fuel at the power plant.

Once in a while there comes a picture so far and away above the average entertainment that the newspapers not only give it columns of space but run editorials about it as well.

Such pictures are milestones in the progress of the talking screen. Just such a picture is "Arrowsmith", the brilliant pictorialization of Sinclair Lewis' tremendous novel. Press and public have accorded it lavish praise. It is not merely a great picture; it is a masterpiece. "Arrowsmith" is entertainment no one can afford to miss.

A stream, known as the Casquette canal, sometimes flows in one direction, and at others flows in the opposite direction. It is a natural waterway which, varying with the rain, flows now into the Hudson basin, now into that of the Amazon. At the flood tide of the Amazon it flows into the Orinoco, while at the flood tide of the Orinoco it flows into the Amazon.

Business Girls Had A Birthday Party

The Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. held a delightful birthday party at its usual Wednesday night supper, to celebrate the ninth anniversary of the first founding of a Business Girls' group in Kingston, before the Y. W. C. A. became a reality. There were real birthday cakes with candles, which were lighted as Mrs. Jessie Snyder gave a toast to each president of the club. Miss Bertha Waterman was in charge of the program and read most amusing horoscopes for the various members of the club, while Miss Hilda Parker read a most interesting but brief report of the growth of the club. Miss Fowler announced that the next supper would be the Mother and Daughter Banquet, and the meeting on April 27 would be the annual meeting and election of officers for next year.

Mrs. Myron S. Teller was the speaker for the evening and gave a review of the book of the month's choice for the month of April—the novel, "Heat Lightning," by Miss Helen Muir. This was an absorbing story of American life today—the life of the Westover family with its many sons and daughters and grandchildren, with old Grandmother Westover as head and binding force for the entire group. Mrs. Teller read a number of delightful passages from the book, making the various characters human, living individuals, unfolding the many problems of family life. The book is an outstanding work of fiction and free from the many objectional features in so many modern novels.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Three Hats Worn in Paris

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild.

The hat illustrated at upper left is Talbot's black stitched taffeta, developed with bellows folds and with butterfly of the fabric with a narrow body.

Next is a beige Milan sailor with brim turned up at the side, trimmed with a printed silk kerchief scarf in shades of red, navy and beige. A matching, larger, bandana is worn as a scarf.

The cloche sailor below is of brown tulle, trimmed with a silk crepe band in green, heena and white.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Style features that are translated from trousers to skirts—unpressed pleats over the abdomen, high horizontal and vertical pockets, and tailored belts run through fabric slides—are definitely associated with the high-waistline skirt.

In the smartest collections, belts are worn "buckle-to-the-back." There is also much interest in the belt which is shaped wider at front, narrowing to the back, or vice versa.

Many navy frocks have matching calf or suede belts. The printed frock or the novelty-weave woolen contrasts boldly with its belt.

Coats This Spring Are a Joy, If Not a Necessity

New York—Spring coats and spring coat-dresses are so extremely chic just now that they are almost impossible to resist. Though the model sketched is full length and unquestionably smart, most of the fashionable coats show the dress beneath, some to the depth of quite a few inches.

The general rule for fur seems to be either to omit it or else to use it in some entirely unexpected manner that is decorative and nothing else. There are cart-wheel sleeves with a deep fur border on either one or both, and there are, as you see, sleeves in which the fur is arranged in a sort of spiral to suggest a bolero.

Coats are so often collarless that the separate neckpiece of fur or fabric must be considered. Another detail in the newest coat collections is the use of white plique revers and edgings, these being removable. While adding to the chic of the coat, they add also to the confusion in one's mind as to what constitutes a coat and in what way it differs from a coat-dress.

One cannot get very far in any discussion of coats—or other fashions for that matter—without running about of the Directoire. Fitted lines and wide lapels, capelets, and all manner of trick sleeves, are important in coat collections. The coat sleeve need not extend more than a few inches below the elbow, and may be slashed as well. This means we are to wear long gloves, not necessarily long enough to meet the sleeves, but at least long enough to meet them halfway, which seems fair enough.

Smart women seem delighted with the new printed-linen or cotton coat linings for summer. Still, many coats are not lined at all. Yokes are ever recurrent, and, to a lesser extent, so are bibs and lei treatments, the latter usually of fur. While navy and black are the leading coat colors, there are also gray and beige, and such colors as sulphur green.

White Organdie for the Spring Blouse

The high-waisted skirt makes the blouse of great importance, and organdie is excellent for it. Doing it in simple styles, short-sleeved, brings out the best in this crisp fabric for blouses. White is most prominent in present interpretations, and there are some prints, principally in white dots on colored grounds, so that it is likely we will see the fabric later developed in plain colors.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Popular Suit Style For The Small Boy

7456. This suit may be of cambric, Indian head, gingham or linen crash. It is also suitable for ponce, madras or broadcloth. As pictured, brown and white linen are combined. The blouse may be made with short sleeves as in the large view, or with wrist length sleeves and a straight cuff, as the small view shows. The closing of the blouse is under the plait at the centre of the front.

Designed in 5 sizes: 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 years. To make the suit for a 3 year size as pictured in the large view will require 1/2 yard for the blouse, and 1 1/4 yard of contrasting material for collar, cuffs and trousers of 35 inch material. If made with long sleeves the blouse will require 1 yard. To make the suit of one material without contrast will require 1 1/2 yard.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

NEWS FROM THE ARK OF SALVATION IN THE CATSKILLS

(Contributed.)

Pacama, April 12.—All are glad to report a very splendid Easter message by the Rev. Mr. Stahl and a farewell message by the Rev. A. Wright, who leaves for Russia on April 22, on the steamer "Koschisko," sailing from New York city. The Sunday School presented him with an offering and different once placed money in his hands as he bade farewell.

Flowers were given by H. Sampson, a lily in bloom. Also a lily plant by Miss H. Brodhead and a plant by two Brodhead sisters, Abie and Ada. A beautiful poem was read by its composer, Gus Rubenstein, entitled, "Bring Back That Baby," expressing his heartfelt sympathy for the father and mother of Baby Charles Lindbergh. Mr. Rubenstein also gave a subscription to the paper to be published in future, called "The Life Line."

A week ago Tuesday night Sergeant Major Lindstrom of the Salvation Army of New York city, spoke at the Ark, praising very highly the splendid work at the Ark and the faith that is needed for such an undertaking. His wife also expressed great joy at seeing so many gathered together for a service up in the mountains where there are no sidewalks and bright lights. She said more people were present than at some more convenient places.

Another beautiful organ has been presented to the work by the First officer of the Salvation Army of Kingston, Mr. Wood. God bless the Army and God bless Mr. Wood, who attends services here and was led to ask for the instrument for us. We rejoice that Mr. Wood wanted us to have the best.

Last Sunday afternoon Harry Taylor of Kingston gave a beautiful, quiet message on the power of the Holy Ghost to a nice audience who were blessed thereby. He will return.

Last Tuesday evening Miss Hasbrouck spoke on "Provoking Unto Good Works." Heb. 10:24 and Col. 3:16. The Holy Spirit was there in power and beautiful prayers and testimonies from a full house testified that God is with us and God is for us, so who can be against us? Closed with singing, "When This World's on Fire."

We are starting a Dorcas Missionary Club to meet every Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Ladies from 15 years up are invited. Also a Queen Esther Club for younger girls every Saturday at 2 p. m., and a Daniel's Band for boys at same hour. We hold gospel services every Tuesday night at 7:30 and Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Sunday evenings at the Lomontville School House. Everybody welcome at all services.

The work is run by faith. Miss Hasbrouck receives no salary, but trusts God to supply her every need. She says He never fails.

A lovely standard ironing board was given Miss Hasbrouck by Samuel Connor, also a beautiful box of writing paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop of Stone gave a bag of potatoes and two dozen eggs. Also, two dozen eggs were given by Gus Rubenstein.

Harry Elliott very kindly offers the use of his splendid car until Miss Hasbrouck can afford to buy one of the Lord sends her one, some day.

Cuban Refiners Aided by Sugar Levy, Says Post

Larger Differential Between Raw and Finished Product Urged to Aid U. S. Plants

The Hawley-Smoot tariff has failed to provide a sufficient differential between the duty on raw and refined cane sugar, thereby encouraging refining operations at sugar in countries of origin of the raw product, heretofore latent, and now affecting the refining operations in the vicinity of New York, according to a statement yesterday by James E. Post, president of the National Sugar Refining Company.

Mr. Post's declaration included a joint statement to the Executive Chamber of Commerce, Merchants Association of New York and the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, by the American Sugar Refining Company, Arturk Brothers and the National Sugar Refining Company.

Aid is sought.

"We ask your help in correcting a condition which threatens disaster to the United States cane sugar refining industry, including sugar refiners, two of which are in Kingston, two in Yonkers, one in Long Island City and one in Sag Harbor," the joint statement declares.

"The importance of these local refineries to the commerce and industry of the New York metropolitan area is shown by the fact that during the last ten years they have paid $104,770,000 for wages and supplies, consumed 4,000,000 lbs. of cane and 2,000,000 lbs. of oil, docked 4,000 steamers, handled approximately $10,000,000 of freight, and shipped 1,100,000 tons of raw sugar, and paid approximately $100,000,000 in customs duties."

"At the present time two of these refineries are completely shut down, and the operations of the others are seriously curtailed by an increasing flood of foreign sugar pouring into the United States from Cuba, Puerto Rico, Brazil, the Philippines, and the Hawaiian Islands. In 1930 imports from the islands amounted to only about 2,000,000 pounds. In 1931, they had increased to nearly 1,000,000,000 pounds, an increase of about 4,000 per cent in six years. Refined sugar has also been imported from Germany, England, Czechoslovakia, Mexico, Salvador and Java."

For your own satisfaction and to help keep American labor employed, insist upon Jack Frost Packaged Sugars.

Every pound of Jack Frost Sugar is refined in this country in modern, sanitary refineries, controlled by the fine standards of American health and sanitation.

If you will insist upon Jack Frost Sugar, you will be certain to get Pure Cane Sugar of uniform quality.

HE'S A "LEADING LADY"

Son of University of Illinois President Plays Star "Feminine Role" in Campus All-Male Production.

Carl Chase, son of President Harry Woodburn Chase, of the University of Illinois, won the leading "feminine" role in "Wattia Racket," all-male spring campus production. He's shown above in one of his costumes.

Urbana, Ill. (AP)—The "leading lady" on the University of Illinois campus this spring is none other than the son of the university's president—a young man named Carl Chase.

Chase, who began as a choir boy in Trinity Church, New York, won the leading feminine role in "Wattia Racket," all-male spring production of Pierrots, campus dramatics society.

Several times young Chase has appeared in feminine roles on the Illinois campus, and his versatility has kept him in demand.

Besides his ability in feminine impersonations, Chase has a rich tenor voice which he accompanies with a banjo. He's also an athlete, but doesn't participate in major sports.

Now, in his nineteenth year, he was adopted by President and Mrs. Harry Woodburn Chase three years ago when Dr. Chase was president of the University of North Carolina. He is a junior at Illinois.

After prepping at Woodberry Forest, Virginia, he attended the University of North Carolina, then Illinois with his parents.

SCHOOL NO. 6 P. T. A. MEETING ON TUESDAY

The P. T. A. of School No. 6 had a very entertaining and instructive meeting on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was conducted by Miss Lincoln in the absence of Mrs. Kelly.

Under the able direction of Miss Phillips three pupils of the 4-B grade gave a delightfully humorous sketch called "Ancestors."

The guest speaker of the afternoon was Miss Schurter, school nurse. She thanked the association for the helpful work in supplying free soup to the undernourished children of the school. The very depressing conditions existing in many homes this year has greatly increased the number of underfed children, she said. She also felt grateful for aid given in supplying glasses to children who needed them but couldn't afford to pay for them. In the United States there are 50,000 children with defective vision. Of these 4,000 have very bad sight—so bad that they need to have special classes. When any city in this state has 10 such children the state provides special classes. Kingston has two children of this type. Miss Schurter called attention to the fact that there are still a number of children not vaccinated. Free vaccination will be provided for these in June, but such vaccination is not compulsory. She also urged all mothers to see that children are immunized against diphtheria. The after effects of diphtheria are so bad that every effort should be made to keep a child free of this dreaded disease, she said. As regards whooping cough Miss Schurter stated that the death rate of children under five was from 35 to 37 per cent—even higher with adults. From five to 21 years it is not so bad. This disease is troublesome because it is usually diagnosed late and is very communicable and very contagious. A vaccine can also be used for this which although it does not prevent it is said to lessen the spasms of coughing.

The association was very enthusiastic over a certificate received by No. 6 for the great increase in membership. This certificate is to be framed and an inscription to Mrs. Roosa added because of her successful efforts in bringing about the increased membership.

Delicious refreshments were served by the mothers of Mrs. Boyd's pupils.

Ancient English Inns
Two inns at Bristol, England, claim to be the oldest hostleries in England. The license of one of them, the Rummer inn, was in existence in 1241. A plan of the city between 1250 and 1350, however, mentions the Full Moon hotel as "apparently a verie ancient hostlerie."

First to Bulletin Elections
The New Orleans Picayune, now the Times-Picayune, had the first newspaper bulletin board displaying election returns, in 1848.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, April 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert McQuade, who have been spending the winter in the city, returned to their home in this place last week.

Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening, April 17, at 8 o'clock. Topic, "Patting Purpose into Life." Phil. 2:12-14.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker called on their sister, Mrs. Roscoe Strivings, who is a patient at the Cornwall hospital, on Friday evening of last week.

The net proceeds of the supper held at the church hall last Thursday evening under the auspices of the Young Woman's Club amounted to $48.62. The members of the club wish to thank all who assisted in making this a success.

At the congregational meeting held at the close of the services last Sunday morning the following elders and deacons were elected: Elders, Peter Wilkins and C. Ira Thompson; deacons, John Mackey and LeVerne Powell.

Last Saturday evening 21 friends and relatives of Mrs. Isaac Sutton gave her a surprise in honor of her 57th birthday, which occurred on Sunday, April 10. During the evening pinocchio, dominoes and stich were enjoyed and refreshments served. Mrs. Sutton also received many pretty and useful gifts. A pretty birthday cake, which was made by Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker, with 57 lighted candles, was cut at midnight. All departed wishing her many more happy birthdays.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Gerow Wilkins entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Denniston and Mrs. I. Sutton and daughter at dinner and supper. This was also in honor of Mrs. Sutton's birthday.

Wolves and Music

Science is continually destroying our fondest beliefs. For centuries we have believed that music has the power to move the very stones and make the most savage of beasts. But this is not so if we can believe the enterprising gentlemen who had the violin played for the wolves in the London zoological gardens.

Wild wolves from Europe and Asia cringed and put their tails between their respective legs at the sound of a fiddle played behind their cages. When the violinist, still playing, stepped within their range of vision, however turned to rage and the wolves leaped at their restraining bars. Incidentally, the experiment here out another legend—that the music of a violin would drive wolves away.

You can't blame a HALF-STARVED lawn

for the way it looks

Now a sturdy new Vigoro Spreader every family can afford! Only $1.95 (slightly higher rest of the Rockies). Applies Vigoro and grass seed on established lawns evenly, quickly. Ask your garden supply dealer for a FREE demonstration.

The square meal for lawns and flowers is 4 lbs. of Vigoro per 100 sq. ft.

EVERY blade of grass, every bud, every seed feels the urge to grow and create beauty for you. But they fail if they're half-starved!

And they may be without your realizing it! Because hungry plant life for years has been eating the food out of the soil.

Gardeners have tried to make up for the deficiency with manures and bone meal. But these lack certain necessary elements.

The sure, modern way to keep your lawn—and everything you grow—from becoming half-starved, is to feed them Vigoro, the square meal for all plants.

Developed by Swift & Company experts, Vigoro contains, in the right proportions, all the food elements plants need. 4 lbs. per 100 sq. ft. will do wonders in your garden.

Vigoro, clean, odorless, easy to use, is an inexpensive investment in home beauty that increases property values. Your garden supply dealer has Vigoro in 5 convenient packs: 100-lb. bags to 12-oz. packages. Order today!

Signal Interferes With Radio Sets

Alderman Paul Zucca at the last meeting of the Common Council called attention to the fact that he was receiving complaints from residents on Pearl street, between Green and Fair streets, that the traffic signal at Wall and Pearl streets, was interfering with radio reception on that block on Pearl street. Residents said that "static" marred the programs and that it occurred every time the signal went on and off. The alderman from the First ward offered a resolution that the trouble be remedied. It was referred to the Board of Public Works. Alderman Zucca also offered a resolution that caution signs be installed at Clinton avenue and St. James street. It was referred to the traffic control committee.

AL SMITH'S SPEECH FAILS TO INTEREST MURRAY

Kansas City, April 14 (AP)—Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma stalked impatiently about the train sheds at the Union Station here this morning, fuming and visibly perturbed by the unrevealed development that interrupted his speaking campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Al Smith's speech scoring Roosevelt's candidacy failed to interest him, he remarked.

He boarded a train for Oklahoma City.

U. S. MUSEUM GETS QUEER COLLECTION

Names as Fearful as the Animals Themselves.

Washington.—Creatures that look like the famous animals portrayed in a well known insect eradicator advertisement have been received by the Smithsonian Institution.

The specimens were collected by Dr. Hugh M. Smith, former chief of the United States bureau of fisheries, who now is employed by the Siamese government to develop the nation's fishing resources.

So grotesque are the beasts that Siamese mothers might well wear their young into eating their spinach with threats of them and tippers turn to taster at their first glimpse of a 14-foot lizard or eel. These have names as awful as their looks; names like gau samian prandra that put to shame those of Chinese towns in the battle zone.

A sort of miniature dinosaur, the giant water lizard, or bla is among the strangest of insects Smith's collection. The Smithsonian's specimen is about seven feet long although some have been reported as measuring 14 feet. It has a long neck, thin head and long, heavy tail. Occasionally, Doctor Smith says, this monster visits the city limits of Bangkok, the Siamese capital, where it makes its appearance in canals through large gardens and in thick shrubbery. It destroys many chickens and ducks. The bla eggs are deemed a gift fit for the king.

The gnu kon koh, "head biting" snake to you, is also numbered in the collection. It is the popular belief in Siam that this creature bites with its tail on dark nights and with its head on moonlight nights. Doctor Smith says it is often seen on Bangkok roads rainy nights, head concealed in its folds and tail standing erect.

A sort of living diamond is the "sun ray" snake. Even in the preservative it shows a glowing iridescence which gives it the appearance of a gem. Native say it is very poisonous.

Doctor Smith has brought with him several specimens of a snake that is apt to the standing broad jump record.

"One morning as I got out of bed," the collector writes, "a full sized gnu samian prandra was sunning itself on the sill of a double door opening on the veranda. As I approached it ran behind the double door and climbed to the top, where it sprang to the rail of the veranda. The distance was about seven feet."

Chinese Bible Version One of Most Popular

London.—The Chinese version of the Bible is enjoying a greater demand than any other except the English, it was revealed here.

The figures were supplied by the British and Foreign Bible society, which distributes Bibles in 651 different languages.

The Bible's popularity increased by leaps and bounds during 1931, the society reported, saying it had distributed 11,888,226 books of scriptures throughout the world. It attributed the fact to a greater need for spiritual comfort in an age of difficulty and pessimism.

World's Biggest Drink Measured; It's Water

Chapel Hill, N. C.—The world's biggest drink of water has been discovered and measured at the University of North Carolina.

It is the daily swallow taken by trees and plants in summer. Its size is 20 to 30 per cent of the water in brooks and streams.

This was computed in rhythmic daily rise and fall in the water of North Carolina streams.

"Ground water" gave the clue.

Exam "Boners" Make Professors Laugh

Hartford, Conn.—"Boners" relieve the dullness of reading examination papers, says Prof. Henry A. Perkins of Trinity college.

Here are a few he listed as encountered in Trinity examinations:

"Work is the ability to do something."

"Aristotle says that grass attains form when it is eaten by a cow."

"Cleopatra must have been a very careful critic and a very careful writer. His writings are forever emphasizing the point he wishes to emphasize."

"As the moon approaches full and is nearer the earth, it has stronger attraction and effects (etc.) the apple."

"Mass in a body is solid. It is the force attracted to the earth. A football player needs mass."

"Since women can vote, voting has ceased to be a privilege."

"Mass is an object that contains weight. Weight is what the object weighs."

"When some one applies an epitaph to you it is sometimes very hard to reply."

"The average man is rather below normal."

"When it says here 'Compare with civilized communities' it would be all right to take the United States."

Standard Pistol

The Luger automatic pistol is one of the standard pistols of the world and is the German military automatic pistol. The original makers were the Deutsche Waffen und Munition Fabrik. During the World War they were made by many other firms in Germany.

TAILORED CLOTHES LEAD THIS SEASON

Good Lines and Simplicity Make for Smartness.

Faces and figures now assume a new importance in the scheme of things. For there is no doubt about it, the mode is a tailored one, and a well-tailored one.

With a lot of fur and fur-trimmed, it is perfectly possible to dress attractively without looking so. Providing, of course, the materials are good, and that the tailoring and fit are good. Simplicity of fabric, or linearity of tailoring, shows up plainly in simple clothes.

Perhaps the greatest expression of the tailored mode is the suit. Here you have the outstanding example of severe simplicity. But even here we have many variations. This year the jacket may even end at the waistline or above it, but it is always fitted. Jacket and skirt sometimes are of contrasting colors. Or, often, a jacket of plain fabric is worn with a checked skirt.

Men's wear suitings, with their firm, hand-finished surfaces, are used for some of the very smart suits of the spring. The worsted finishes also take tailoring well, and have a decidedly new look.

Probably the most popular coat of the season will be the tailored one, serving all purposes, and becoming to every one who is young enough to stand its simplicity.

FICHU-TIE WRAP

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

With every frock a complementary jacket is a slogan which is echoing to the furthest corners of the style world. The model pictured is the sort that makes one covet a replica of it. The original is made of flat crepe in a bright orange shade to match the dominant coloring in the frock, the latter fashioned of sheer demure crepe in brilliant floral patterning on an ivory ground. Note the chic de with its caplet effect over the shoulders. It's the latest!

STYLE NOTES

Gorgeous prints are shown for afternoon and evening wear.

Favor for embroidered ornamentation is increasingly noted.

Furs for summer will be silver fox, blue fox, gairac and ermine.

Dark sunburn shades for hostelry with white shoes is first choice.

Delicate flesh and nude shades are good. Bags and gray are high style colors.

Suits are highlighted all along fashion's parade and blues in an extensive range above all colors.

Dots Are Seen on Every Accessory This Season

Dots are dashing this season. Navy blue and black silk suits and dresses are polka-dotted in white or red or vice versa. Costumes of solid colors are enlivened by dotted scarves, kerchiefs and bags. Even some of the newest costume jewelry features the dot motif.

Now we have gloves gayly sprinkled with contrasting dots. They are of capelin, with the dots applied. Black gloves have white dots, white gloves have black.

Exercise and Muscles

Exercise causes muscles to develop. The actual mechanics of the development of muscle consists of an increased amount of blood to the heart during exercise. This causes growth of the muscle and tissues, with the resulting development in size.

News of Today In Kingston

You still see police officers around town tooting their whistles to bring to a halt violators of the "stop signs." By now all the local drivers are wise but those who come from out of town are the poor unfortunate ones. Almost every car you see pulled up to the curb has an out of town license.

The local auto drivers don't look for these signs any more. Instead they scan the territory for a policeman. If he is absent that stop sign immediately changes to "go."

But beware you drivers there is now another campaign underway. Yesterday at the corner of McEntee and Broadway a number of motorists were caught. Most of them were from out of town.

Furthermore the price has been raised from $2 to $5 for this law violation.

There's no doubt about the value of these signs in some places in the city, but in other spots "caution" sign should be installed instead of stop.

According to reports the municipal golf course prospects are good. The committee working on membership has reported fair results. Of course it is a little early yet to begin swinging the clubs so when the season gets in full swing there might be a lot more interest shown.

The athletic field in the rear of the high school is nearing completion. The work goes along slowly for leveling off means the removal of nothing but solid rock.

So far this once bumpy stretch of land has been converted into a level field large enough for a track and football field. However, the work is not yet finished and the field will be increased in size before the workmen gather up their tools.

It has been announced that the Kingston All-Stars, under the management of John McCardle, will soon start practice. A definite date has not been set but it is presumed that the stars might hold a workout Sunday at either the Athletic Field or Kingston Fair Grounds.

Activity on the diamond of the McCardle team, the only group of players in the city to make plans so far for the coming season, will probably interest fans to a considerable extent. However, other teams undoubtedly will soon get busy. The Blue Sox and Kingston Colonials expect to come to life very shortly.

Just how fans will receive baseball here this year is, of course, a question. It is hoped that they will show interest to correspond to that displayed on the opening day of the major leagues when 250,510 turned out to see the American and National circuits start their campaigns with the world series in view.

Last summer local fans were not so enthusiastic about the national game as played by talent from this vicinity and as a result patronage was poor. Desiring to prevent losses, Manager McCardle has booked all road games so far. It is said, and whether the All-Stars will play at all in Kingston is not yet known.

Adolf Hitler Names "Retaliation Day"

Berlin, April 14 (AP)—"April 24 is retaliation day!" Adolf Hitler told his National Socialist forces today in a statement in which he denounced the government suppression order against his storm troops as "a last blow of despair."

April 24 is the date of the diet election in Prussia and other German states, when the Nazis, defeated in their attempt to make Hitler president, will endeavor to secure legislative control through obtaining majorities in the local parliaments.

In his statement today Hitler thanked his comrades for the "work, discipline and faith" shown during the years the Nazi movement has been growing to its present strength.

Musical Society of Kingston Meeting

On Wednesday evening there was an interesting meeting of the Musical Society of Kingston held at the home of Mrs. Millonig. During the business session it was decided to hold the next meeting during National Music Week, on the evening of May 4. Mrs. Knapp had very kindly offered her home for this meeting which will be an open meeting and the invitation was gladly accepted. Some little time was devoted to the planning of the program for that meeting and also of the subject or subjects for study next year. Mrs. William MacGregor Mills, the president, presided. Mrs. A. Noble Graham, chairman of the nominating committee, gave her report, which was favorably acted upon and all of the present officers were elected for the coming year, as follows: Ideas, Mrs. William MacGregor Mills; vice president, Mrs. Florence Cully; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Henry Millonig.

The evening was devoted to "Chopin music," with Mrs. Millonig having charge of the program, which was all very interesting and informative. It opened with a paper on "Chopin," given very entertainingly by Mrs. Millonig. During the paper incidental themes from the Revolutionary Etude and the G Minor Prelude were played by Miss Ethel Mauterstock as illustrative of certain topics in Mrs. Millonig's paper. Miss Mauterstock also played the Mazurka in C Major, which was followed by the C Sharp Minor Waltz, played by Mrs. C. Sharp Minor. The preludes were represented by Mrs. Mills, who played the A Major and the D Flat Major Preludes. She also played the most noted Nocturne in E Flat.

It was an admirably arranged program, covering all of the phases of Chopin's piano music and well rendered by each of the soloists. Though Chopin wrote only some seventeen songs, they, too, were represented. Mrs. Dunbar, after giving a translation of the German text, sang a beautiful Slavik Folk Song and "My Delights" (in waltz time). Mrs. William S. Elting accompanied Mrs. Dunbar.

Departing somewhat from the Chopin idea, Mrs. C. N. Reed gave a short talk on the symphony orchestra, score and conductor, preliminary to the next symphony concert. Miss Jennie Hildebrandt, who had attended the conference of the Federation of Music Clubs in New York recently, told interestingly of so much of the program as she heard. The program closed with the playing of Scherzo in C Sharp Minor by Mrs. Millonig and the serving of light refreshments.

Someone Stole Dynamite.

Wednesday afternoon it was reported to the police department that someone had broken into the L. S. Winne storehouse and stolen a dozen sticks of 40 per cent dynamite.

Snow Flurries in Upper N. Y. Counties

Albany, N. Y., April 14 (AP)—Mid-April is supposed to bring robins to upstate New York but this season it brought snowflakes to one section of the state, anyway.

Chautauque county was buried to under ten to twelve inches of snow, which had blocked many highways with four-foot drifts. Snow-plows struggled throughout last night to keep the main highways open. The secondary roads were closed.

While the southwestern corner of the state was hardest hit, there was snow throughout the state yesterday and more promised for today. The mountains were well covered.

Buffalo had almost four inches of snow, and Rochester, Syracuse, Utica and Albany reported flurries through out the day. Temperatures fell sharply, Rochester reporting 23 degrees at midnight and Syracuse "just above freezing."

In mid-January the weather was reported "spring-like" day after day.

Medical Society Had Talks On Tuberculosis

The regular meeting of the Ulster County Medical Society held Tuesday evening at the tuberculosis hospital on the Boulevard brought out an unusually large attendance, 54 members being present.

Dr. Robert Plunkett, director of tuberculosis in the state health department, gave a symposium on the disease and also introduced the two other speakers of the occasion, Dr. A. S. Ornstein of the Metropolitan Health Department and Dr. Pol Corylliss of the Metropolitan Hospital.

Dr. Ornstein spoke on the treatment and early diagnosis of tuberculosis and Dr. Corylliss spoke on surgical treatment of the disease. Both men illustrated their talks with lantern slides and motion pictures.

Following the meeting the physicians were served refreshments as the guests of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Association.

Guest at the meeting and social was Dr. Simon Henry Gage, professor emeritus of histology at Cornell University.

Opposition Of Smith Faces Roosevelt

Madison Square Garden, New York, convention. Several speakers last night mentioned a long Democratic convention as a Republican hope and promised the opposition would not have its wish.

Smith advocated a clean-cut platform, which, besides his war plan and liquor control project, reiterated a demand for a salary tariff rates written by a non-party commission, and a thorough reorganization of the government machinery.

He called for a short platform, criticizing the party for devoting space in the past to attacking Republicans instead of concisely and definitely offering constructive proposals. Unemployment, he said, would have to be remedied gradually, for "there is no such thing as waving the magic wand."

But his greatest emphasis went to an attack on demagoguery.

Against Demagogues

"There is no time for demagogues. At a time like this when millions of men and women and children are starving throughout the land, there is always the temptation to some one to stir up class prejudice, to stir the bitterness of the rich against the poor, and the poor against the rich. Against that effort I set myself uncompromisingly."

"I protest against the endeavor to delude the poor people to their ruin by trying to make them believe that they can get employment before the people who would ordinarily employ them are also again restored to conditions of normal prosperity."

Upon this followed his declaration that he would fight, Smith pointed out he was making the one exception to his earlier declaration that he would accept the nomination tendered by the convention, he would not, up to that time, be for or against any candidate.

Financial And Commercial

New York, April 14 (AP).—The Stock Market danced about rather erratically today. A sharp slump at the opening, suggestive of forced liquidation such as selling out of bank loan collateral, carried prices into a new low ground for the week, but pressure abated, toward midday and a flurry of short covering erased most of the loss, a few small gains appeared.

The recovery was marked by a run-up of more than 7 points in Peoples Gas, accompanied by a similar jump in Commonwealth Edison on the curb. American Telephone dropped 4 points in the morning to a new low since 1921 at 103, then recovered. Early losses of 2 and 3 points in Santa Fe and Union Pacific were replaced by gains of about a point. U. S. Steel recovered an early decline of 1 1/2, which had carried it temporarily into new low ground. Standard Oil, a left spot yesterday, was peculiarly firm, rising 1 point. Lambers, similarly, got up 2 points. General Motors and General Electric were stable from the start.

Bullish quarters in Wall street felt that the financial community was slow in recognizing the potentialities of the Federal Reserve system's new and more aggressive credit expansion program. The statement of Governor Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board before the house banking and currency committee—"I am hopeful that we are now at a point where we will be able to hold the line"—was also regarded as encouraging. Some important banking quarters felt that the success of the credit expansion program will depend upon the prevention of further serious shocks to confidence, but acknowledged that it may be highly effective, if "we are able to hold the line."

There was little further change in the money market, but there was considerable expectation that the New York Federal Reserve Bank might reduce its rediscount rate of 2 per cent either this week or next. The Bank of England made no further change in its 3 1/2 per cent rate, but its weekly statement shows improvement in its reserve ratio.

OLIVE BRIDGE ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD RECEPTION

West Shokan, April 14.—Shokan Lodge, No. 491, will hold a reception and banquet at the lodge hall at Olive Bridge on Saturday evening, April 16. The affair is to be given in honor of the new membership class numbering 13, and to be shared by William H. Raymond, Bearsville and Aretas Lodges, who took part in the conferring of the degrees. The regular lodge session will be held after which a banquet will be served by members of Olive Rebekah Lodge No. 470. Following the banquet the ensuing program is planned. A visitation of a delegation of grand lodge officers, who will speak on subjects pertaining to the good and welfare of Odd Fellowship. There will be a musical concert provided by a very select group of out of town talent. The committees in charge are planning to make this one of the greatest surprise events in the annals of Shokan Lodge.

CHILD GUIDANCE SPECIALIST AT COURT HOUSE TONIGHT

Dr. Margaret Wylie, child guidance specialist from the State College of Home Economics, will speak at the court house this evening on the subject, "Safety Valves in Parent-Child Relations." The meeting begins at 8 o'clock and is open to everybody interested in the behavior of children. Strained situations in the family circle may often be avoided, according to Dr. Wylie, through methods suggested by modern knowledge of child and adult psychology. Dr. Wylie will discuss these methods and show how spanking, tears and temper tantrums may often be avoided. The meeting has been arranged for the evening to accommodate men who otherwise might not be able to attend.

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, April 14.—Everyone is glad to hear that Mrs. Sears is greatly improved. Mrs. Lottie Horan of Beacon is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Jay Fellows. Mrs. Percy Krom had the misfortune to fall and dislocate her left shoulder. She is improving very nicely under the care of Dr. D. S. Meyers. William English has returned home after spending a most enjoyable winter in Florida. Mrs. Bertha Shults of Saugerties spent a few days with her sister Mrs. Hermance.

PATAIKUNK.

Pataikunk, April 14.—Gilbert Grassinger and Gordon Van Etten, who are ill, are absent from school. The children all report having enjoyed their spring vacation last week. Among the recent visitors at the school were Mrs. Helen Turner, Mrs. Helen Harris and Tommy Teasler. All are beginning to make plans for Arbor Day. Ruth Dunn and Olive Lawrence gave organ recitals during the past week at morning exercises in the school.

How It Is Done

A father and his little boy were having a discussion on legal matters. "What is a restraining force?" asked the little boy. His father replied: "A restraining force is a fee paid to a lawyer before he will undertake to do any work for a client." "Oh!" replied the little boy, "Is putting a shilling in a meter before you get any gas?"—Toronto Globe.

WEST SHOKAN.

West Shokan, April 14.—The Ladies' Aid session Wednesday was well attended, a satisfactory amount of quilting was accomplished and the sumptuous luncheon at midday was much enjoyed.

A number from our locality attended the funeral of Mrs. Julia Winchell at the Old School Baptist Church Wednesday afternoon. Deceased was wife of Peter of Freeman Every of Watson Hollow.

John Mosher has returned to Danbury, Conn., for an indefinite stay. Mrs. Minnie Smith, his sister, with whom he has been making his home for the past year, decided not to erect a bungalow this spring, as planned, at Dwyer's Corner. Last fall the cellar was excavated and the foundation laid, also a well was dug in the cellar, with much blasting through the hardpan and solid rock. During the winter Mr. Mosher transformed the barn which was unused into attractive bungalow compartment.

Thirty years ago, during the afternoon of a murky April 12, 1902, there occurred a phenomenon in this locality which perhaps never before or since has been recorded. About 4 o'clock that afternoon a dashing shower coming from the northwest broke over the valley which left in its wake windows and the sides of painted buildings noticeably bespattered with mud. The writer, then of a tender age, recalls this incident most vividly, as not a little apprehension was caused, many believing the strange visitation to be a forerunner of a coming calamity. Samuel Cassalana, right hand man of Ernest Palen, was a neighborly local caller on Monday evening.

Julian Eckert of West Shokan Heights was a Kingston business caller Monday afternoon.

Martin J. Every, local turkey rancher, reports that his flock of breeding hens are already laying lustily. Trouble is to keep tab on the shy birds, who intimated with the wild blood of their roaming ancestors, are determined to steal their nests about the old grown up pastures. Last season proved a very successful one for Mr. and Mrs. Every. However, successful commercial turkey raising requires constant attention and plenty of hard earned experience.

William Terwilliger reports that Jimmy Coddington, youngest son of the milk route proprietor of Pataikunk, underwent a successful appendectomy operation on Monday at the Benediction Hospital. Officially Jimmy was accompanied by Wilson over the route with the milk truck. His friends along the way wish him best of luck.

Mrs. Archie Runk of Kingston, teacher of the Brown Station school, who recently underwent an operation for acute appendicitis, resumed her position Monday. A substitute teacher was procured during her illness.

Miss Celestia Secor of Ashokan, a Kingston High School student, suffered an attack of appendicitis while at school and is undergoing medical treatment at her home.

Since acquiring a 1928 Chevrolet coach of the Colonial City agency, Robert York feels that at last he has filled the desire of his heart. It is surely a pretty spiffy automobile and Bib certainly can get speed out of it too. And doesn't he make a hit, the smiling irresistible young sheik? Leave it to Bib.

Walter Schmokel of North Main street Heights was a Monday morning caller at West Shokan Heights. He is a very nice fellow, wearing a beaming smile, now that he has become a grandpa. The good news comes from Detroit, Mich.

All are pleased to hear that Virginia Cudney of Ashokan is getting along nicely at Kingston Hospital. She hopes to be able to return home in a few days.

Mrs. Edward Avery, hushwife, Maple Dell poultrymaid, has her incubators set to full capacity. Mrs. Avery certainly knows her chickens. Leroy Davis, widely known cattle dealer of Olive Bridge, was around with his truck, picking up veal calves on Tuesday.

Pretty rainy time we've had, nearly four days raining steadily. Now that it has finally let up a bit, all are hoping that the weather may settle down fair and warm up for a pleasing change.

Some of the boys are trying their luck for suckers at Bridal Veil rocks. However, the benumbed fish are not biting very frisky.

Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge was represented at the annual District Grand Committee session held Wednesday at William H. Raymond Lodge at Saugerties by the following past noble grand: Lester B. Davis and son, Alonzo, who became a member at this session; Past District Deputy Arthur E. Trowbridge and Virgil C. Gordon, John W. Kelder, Ephraim Krom, William Jordan, John Jordan and Elwyn Davis, who was unanimously reelected secretary and treasurer. A most interesting gathering is reported and the dinner served by the Queen Ulster Rebekahs was most heartily enjoyed.

Seaplane Flies Over Place Lindbergh Baby Was to Be Delivered

More Ransom Bills Turn Up. Authorities are unable to trace them—No New Developments Announced.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., April 13 (AP).—A seaplane, which residents of Martha's Vineyard believed carried Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in search for trace of his kidnapped son, flew over the Vineyard today.

The seaplane, which flew high when over the residential section, came from the direction of Buzzards Island, 10 miles away, where Lindbergh recently tried to find a child in connection with the arrangement under which he paid $50,000 to the purported kidnaper.

After running along the coast the seaplane circled over the Gay Head Coast Guard Station and then headed east into the general direction of the mainland.

Mother Seen Baby

Slain by Leopard

Berlin.—A mother had to watch while her two-year-old baby was killed by a "pet" leopard in a flat in a western suburb of Berlin.

The child was taken on a visit by his mother, the wife of a Berlin business man named Scharrer, to the flat. The leopard broke loose from a chain and severely mauled the child.

The owner of the leopard acquired the animal when it was a cub in Africa, where he was traveling. He will be charged with "involuntary manslaughter," as it is illegal to keep wild bears in private dwellings.

YOUNG ROBIN HOOD CONFESSES THEFTS

Says He Gave the Proceeds to Mother and Poor.

Newark.—Police who for four months have been outwitted by a "Raffles burglar" believed to have committed 400 burglaries in the fashionable sections of the city, had in custody a fifteen-year-old eighth-grade school boy who admitted 150 of the burglaries; all that he could remember.

The story the boy told—his name is withheld because of his age—strained the credulity of the police.

He said he stole to relieve the suffering and distress of poverty that he saw about him. His mother, the widow of a war veteran, his two sisters and he lived on a small pension and the $14 a week his elder sister earned as a clerk.

One evening about four months ago, he said, he took a purse containing $42 from an open window in a neighbor's home. He mailed the money to his mother, who was surprised at the anonymous gift.

"It was so easy, I tried it again," the boy told police, they related. The boy said he similarly bought clothing and other necessities for destitute families, whose children were his schoolmates. Only once did he buy anything for himself, a bicycle, over which he said he became conscience-stricken two days later. He sold it for $21 and gave the money to his mother, telling her he had found it.

Policeman Frank Adams succeeded where 51 detectives detailed to the case failed. He noted an $800 diamond ring on the boy's finger. Once, the boy said, he surprised a housewife at her bath and had to leap through a window. Later he joined the strong helping police hunt for the burglar.

Grief Over Separation Causes Death of Two

Lamar, Mo.—Grief over a supposed threat of separation from her one-year-old son caused a former Lamar school teacher to give the child poison and then commit suicide.

A note found by Coroner E. M. Keeney, when he investigated the double death at the Clinton Davis farm home, 12 miles north of here, read: "Clint told me to pack up and he would take us somewhere, but said I couldn't take Gerald. I gave us both poison."

Before the completion of the death resolution, she became frightened and called her husband from the field to see what she had done. This was several minutes before the child's death. Mrs. Davis, twenty-eight years old, had taught in the Lamar public school several years before her marriage two years ago.

Postage Stamp Theft Brings 3 Years' Term

Stockton, Calif.—Three years in prison for stealing a postage stamp is rather a severe sentence, but Miss Laura Berry can appreciate the yearning that must have burned in the breast of the stamp-collecting thief.

She received a letter from Palestine recently informing her that a postcard addressed to her from Bethlehem on August 26, 1931, had been bereft of its stamp by a postal employee whose collecting yen got the better of him.

The letter informed Miss Berry that the criminal had been duly prosecuted and sentenced to three years in prison.

Make Peddler Move Out of His Hogshead Home

Gloucester, Mass.—A hogshead was home, sweet home to Charles Mason Andrews, elderly candy peddler, until he was evicted by police. They couldn't understand why anyone should want to live in a giant barrel beneath four towering plies, and told the old man he'd either have to move or go to the poor farm. Andrews reluctantly abandoned his hogshead.

Highways To Cost $1,353,000,000 This Year; Pennsylvania Allots Largest Sum For Projects

What States Will Spend On Roads And Bridges

Washington, D.C.—Add a little more than 12 per cent to the wholesale value of automobiles produced in 1931 by the United States and the result will be the sum to be spent in 1932 for the nation's highways.

Altogether, as reported by state authorities to the bureau of public roads, the estimated state and local highway and bridge expenditures this year will total $1,353,000,000.

Comparison with the cost of 1931 projects cannot be made until late summer, when final figures are collected, but it is known that this year's program represents a 19 per cent decrease from the total sum spent in 1930.

It is possible, however, that the 1932 total may be increased since congress has numerous road appropriation measures pending. The total authorization for federal aid now amounts to $125,000,000.

State highway departments alone expect to build more than 36,000 miles of roads this year. Though 1932 state highway funds are 10 per cent under the 1930 figure, the decline is considerably less than in local funds because they are largely derived from motor vehicles and gasoline taxation upon which revenues there has been no marked reduction.

Nine states have reported total highway programs estimated to cost in excess of $50,000,000. Ranked according to the total of their projects, they stand as follows:

Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, California, New Jersey, Ohio, Texas, Missouri and Michigan.

The local programs of road construction will exceed $25,000,000 in the following states: Pennsylvania,

Missouri, 4,517 miles; Pennsylvania, 2,700 miles; Texas, 2,500 miles; Louisiana, 2,300 miles; North Dakota, 1,870 miles; Oklahoma,

1,750 miles; Kansas, 1,243 miles; Iowa, 1,225 miles; Minnesota, 1,120 miles; Nebraska, 1,025 miles; and Illinois, 1,000 miles.

Of the highways to be built the total of sand-clay, gravel and macadam roads—1,750 miles—is nearly equal to the mileage of all other types to be constructed. Estimated earth improved roads to be built will total 8,999 miles while asphalt, concrete, and brick highways will amount to 8,863 miles.

Eleven states reported estimates of road mileage to be built by state highway departments or in excess of 1,000 miles. They are as follows:

Missouri, 4,517 miles; Pennsylvania, 2,700 miles; Texas, 2,500 miles; Louisiana, 2,300 miles; North Dakota, 1,870 miles; Oklahoma,

Lost Ugly Fat

Her Husband Says She Looks Five Years Younger!

There is a certain weight at which every woman looks her loveliest—neither overweight nor underweight, but normal weight. And artists, doctors, theatrical managers (and husbands!) all agree upon this point. "My husband says I look five years younger," cries this lady of 29 who—thanks to her daily dose of Kruschen Salts—has unburdened her body of 18 pounds of ugly fat. Read her letter:

"Having heard from a friend of mine that Kruschen Salts had helped her to lose considerable weight since taking Kruschen Salts, I started using them daily last when I weighed 177 lbs. I lost weight steadily since then, and now I weigh 159 lbs.—my normal weight. I feel brighter and more energetic in every way."

I have inquired of my dressmaker my measurements which in August last were 40, hips 42 1/2, waist 33 1/2. Kruschen is normal for my height, which is 5 ft. 2 in. My age is 29. My husband is a severe critic. He says I look five years younger. There is no other reason for my loss of weight except Kruschen, as he has taken any particular diet."

(Mrs. S. K. London, England.)

A bottle of Kruschen Salts will last three weeks costs but a trifle—take as directed every morning. When the fat is gone get on the scales and see how many pounds you have lost. Attention to diet—help—put down on pasty and fatty food—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar.

Remember this: to take off fat harmlessly and SAFELY be sure for your own sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at McBride Drug or any drug store in the world and the results one bottle brings do not deceive you—do not jocularly satisfy your money back.

Crowd Expected at Amateur Bouts in Servicenter Friday

It is expected that one of the largest gatherings that ever crowded the Servicenter for a program of amateur bouts will be on hand Friday night for "Doc" Stender's carnival of sports, featuring Jack Sullivan, Mariborough, Leavitt, and Willie Barrow, Pennsylvania negro, in a return engagement.

These two bouts met at the last show here and in a battle that was declared to be the best ever witnessed in this vicinity, Barrow, the decision over Sullivan, the former heavyweight champion of the Amateur Federation of Sports Clubs, Sullivan expects to win the Friday engagement and thus even matters with his rival.

Getting away with Barrow is no easy matter, and Sullivan will have to be in more than the "pink" of condition for the mill, according to those who saw the last engagement between the two. In the first match, the big Mariborough boy tired early and as the result took a severe shellacking, being almost out on his feet in the fifth round. However, he handed out his share of punishment, closing Barrow's right eye with one of his terrific punches.

With Sullivan in fighting form, and his handlers say he is fans believe that the coming ring war will be as thrilling as the slashing battle of April 1. Sullivan is out to win and so is Barrow, who believes he can repeat as victor, so a hot and heavy exhibition is expected.

In the preliminary Gabe Vostick will try to redeem himself by taking into camp that hard-hitting middleweight from East Kingston, Johnny Raymond. Vostick recently lost by knockout to Joe Scott of Beacon and ever since has been craving to show the fans of this vicinity that he can come back and win. He has a tough assignment, however, in Raymond who carries plenty of dynamite in both hands. He kayaked Harry Porter of Poughkeepsie at the last show here, stopping him in 1:15 of the third round.

Besides the scrappers mentioned there are other popular bouts of this vicinity scheduled to box in the matches making up the 34-round program which is slated to start at 8:30. Among the local boys on the program are Coke Costello of Port Ewen, Buddy Emerson of Tillson, Duke Wade of Kingston, Battling Luri of Kingston and Joe Benjamin of Saugerties. The two latter pugilists are paired for the opening bout, which is expected to be a sizzling duel.

SPORT SLANTS

By Allen J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

There was no trick in picking the Athletics and Cardinals to win the 1931 pennant races.

We did and they did, with such thoroughness and dispatch, that we nominate the two championship clubs here and now to stick to the peaks.

The strangest feature of the situation, from this observer's viewpoint, is that the Cardinals among betting men are considered a better gamble to repeat than the Athletics.

As we saw them perform in Florida, each minus a few vital cogs, the A's looked the stronger outfit by several kilometers.

The Athletics still can depend on Earnshaw, Grove and Walberg, whereas the Cardinals must make two or three untitled youngsters carry the load left by the departure of Burleigh Grimes.

There is a tendency to over-rate the chances of the Yankees in the American League and under-estimate the strength of the Giants and Cubs in the National League.

If the law of averages is due to continue the operations against the Athletics, begun in the last world series, it also may be obliged to perform at the expense of the Cardinals, who have slaughtered such clubs as Cincinnati in piling up winning margins the last two years.

Anything can happen in baseball but the burden of proof this season will be on the Yankees and six other American League clubs—not the Athletics.

The Pick

Here's the way we expect them to wind up next September, whether it means anything or not:

American League—Athletics, Yankees, Washington, Cleveland, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston and Detroit. National League—Cardinals, Giants, Cubs, Brooklyn, Phillies, Reds, Braves and Pirates.

Reds Better Hand

The Cincinnati Club, made up mostly of ex-Brooklyn and ex-St. Louis talent, may turn out to be the most improved outfit in either circuit.

Dan Howley and Sidney Weil did not get the worst of the big deal with Brooklyn. The Reds have a pretty fair infield, minus Cucinello and Stripp, and they get the benefit of some real punch with Herman and Lombardi in the lineup.

Wilbert Robinson made Lombardi, the big lumbering catcher, more or less famous as "Lumbago" but the Pacific Coast League product is a real slugger and possesses a rifle-shot arm.

The Braves, too, after a poor start, have looked more like the outfit that Judge Emil Fuchs and Manager Bill McKechnie thought they had built up at substantial cost.

Likewise the Phillies appear much stronger, thereby giving the second division of the 1931 National League race a much more menacing aspect for the pennant hopefuls this spring.

Herzogs Take Two Games From Bakers

Two out of three games were won by the Herzog team from the Baker representatives at Colonial alleys, North Front street, Wednesday night in the Colonial Bowling League. Scores of the match were as follows:

Track Practice Held Up by Bad Weather

The track team which is trying to hit its stride for the meet at Cornwall, Saturday, April 23, is being held up by the cold weather. Wednesday afternoon the drill was called off. This delay in routine workouts will do a lot to prevent the team from doing its best for at present few men are in condition.

The candidates were called only a little over a week ago and practices have been taking place less time than that. In fact about four drills have been directed in the rear of the school by Coach Bailey. Of course, track is even a more delicate sport than baseball and weather conditions have a greater effect. The scanty attire of the men and the great muscular reaction of the movements of track men demand warm weather.

As yet nothing has been done in the line of eliminating candidates. A team is as far from being picked now as it was two weeks ago. This elimination should get under way by the latter part of the week or the first part of next.

Expert Fishermen To Exhibit Wares At Armory April 20

TRUE TEMPER CURLY

The Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association again comes to the front with an announcement that will be of the greatest interest to all disciples of Isaac Walton in this vicinity.

On Wednesday evening, April 20, beginning at 8:15 sharp there will be an exhibition of expert professional fly and bait casting in the local state armory given by two men whose names are known and respected from one end of the country to the other whenever fishermen get together: William R. "Fly Rod Bill" Cook, fly-caster extraordinary, and Sterling Moulton, better known to his host of friends as "True Temper Curly," bait-caster, the man who can throw a "plug" through a knot-hole.

Both of these men in their amateur days won many tournaments in their respective fields for accuracy and distance and as professionals have developed a degree of skill that is positively uncanny and which must be seen to be appreciated. One of Mr. Moulton's pet tricks is to take a cigarette out of a man's mouth at a distance of 50 feet with a bait casting outfit, and Mr. Cook performs very similar tricks with a fly rod.

In addition to their exhibition and trick casting, both of these gentlemen are highly expert practical fishermen as is proven by the fact that Mr. Cook is the only man on record who ever brought a twenty-three pound Atlantic salmon to gaff on a five ounce, eight foot trout rod, a feat which he performed last year on the celebrated Cain River in New Brunswick. Their vast fund of fishing knowledge and experience will be at the service of local anglers, for arrangements have been made by which, at the conclusion of their regular program of exhibition of casting, any angler in the audience will be at liberty to consult them for instruction, criticism or advice on any question connected with fishing. In fact, the audience is urged to avail themselves of this privilege.

Messrs. Cook and Moulton are bringing with them an exceedingly complete and valuable collection of fine fishing tackle, suitable for use in almost any kind of fishing, and this complete collection will be on public exhibition at the armory during the whole evening.

The exhibition will be held at the Ulster County Armory, North Front street, Wednesday night, April 20, beginning at 8:15 sharp. Admission is free. The exhibition will be on public exhibition at the armory during the whole evening.

FLY ROD BILL

The fishermen who gather at the armory for this unique event will also have the privilege of hearing an address by the Hon. Herbert E. Gaston, deputy commissioner of conservation for New York state who is coming to Kingston specially to address the large body of sportsmen who will be present. Himself an ardent sportsman, Mr. Gaston will bring to Ulster county the greetings of his department and give a first hand summary of the work of his department and what is being considered for the future in the field of conservation.

While the Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association is acting as sponsor for this interesting and instructive entertainment, it is through the personal influence and initiative of Benjamin J. Winne, local sportsman and dealer in fishing tackle, that it has been possible to secure the services of the experts who will give the entertainment and all local sportsmen owe Mr. Winne a deep debt of gratitude for the service he has rendered.

There will be absolutely no expense to the attending sportsmen for this exhibition. No admission charges, no collections of any kind, and all fishermen, young or old, men or women, are urged to take advantage of this opportunity and spend a pleasant and profitable evening as the guests of the local association. Invitations have been issued to the members of the 14 sportsmen's clubs which form the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county, and preparations will be made to accommodate the huge crowd which is expected.

FOOD OF QUALITY FOR BREEDING HENS

Only Way to Get Best Eggs and Healthy Chicks

Poultry has suffered along with other farm crops, but due to the low feed prices in proportion to the prices being received for eggs, and because of the mild winter permitting action to stay at level, poultry men have been much encouraged to ahead with their work," says Roy Dearstyne, head of the poultry department at North Carolina state college. "However, some poultrymen have attempted to increase their margin profit by decreasing the feeding or substituting certain feeds which do not give as good results. One of the most substitutions being practiced is to use vegetable protein feeds for animal protein feeds. Soy bean meal and peanut meal are good if used in limited quantities, but they should not entirely replace the animal protein, especially when production is heavy and the eggs are being used for hatching."

Any radical change from the methods of feeding at this time is likely to be reflected in the hatchability of the eggs or the livability of the chicks, Mr. Dearstyne says. The breeding hens should be fed so that they will produce only the highest quality of eggs.

Mr. Dearstyne insists that good feed, plenty of sunlight, an adequate mineral supply and milk in some form should be fed the birds to get the best eggs for producing healthy chicks, the breeding birds are to be through long laying season and maintain body weight, they must be fed a balanced ration. It is particularly unwise to depend on grain feeds alone without mash.

Chickens a Life Saver, Says Ohio Poultryman

R. W. Switzer, poultryman, has told the Ohio Farmer how he managed to reduce feed costs in his flocks. "To make money we had to press down on feed costs," says Switzer. He believes the cost of grinding grains for poultry is a wasted expense. He feeds a choice ration with corn, wheat, germinated oats, meat scraps and milk before the birds at all times. Greens supplied by cabbage and apples and cod liver oil is fed in the grain.

Mr. Switzer raises all his grain and buys only concentrates. "Last year," showed Switzer, "we received 6 cents a pound for our grain by marketing through our hens." Dairy cows way his main line until disease broke out and he had to sell his stock. "Our chickens at this time proved a life saver," he said.

Causes of Paralysis

Paralysis is occasionally seen in chickens that are heavily fed and grow rapidly. It is also seen where there is overcrowding and poor ventilation. Let them have plenty of space and green feed and add one teaspoonful of fluid extract of nux vomica to each pint of drinking water.

There is a form of paralysis that attacks mostly young birds, for which there is no treatment of any value and is usually fatal. In cases of this kind it is advisable to get a new flock and put them in new buildings on clean land. Changing the old flock to new ground or buildings does not stamp out the disease.—Michigan Farmer.

Incubator Pointers

Level the incubator with a spirit level and place bits of wood under any leg that seems short. This not only helps to keep an even heat in the egg chambers but prevents the vibration that occurs when the floor is uneven and one of the incubator legs does not rest firmly.

A cellar is the best location for the incubator as it is free from vibration and the air will be rather moist. When the machines are operated in an upstairs room the entire family must be careful to avoid running heavy walking, banging doors or carelessly leaving them open and chilling the air around the machine.

Need Cod Liver Oil

Poultry kept around cities where smoke abounds do not get sufficient sunshine in winter time, and hence cod liver oil is necessary for them. Prof. E. L. Dakin, of the Ohio State university, says after testing out several flocks. Two years ago he fed all flocks without cod liver oil except one and that one pen laid the most eggs. Next year he fed cod liver to all flocks except one, and that year this single pen without oil had the lowest production of all.—Ohio Farmer.

Heavy Layers

Hens have to meet a high standard before they are used for breeding purposes at the United States live stock experiment station at Beltsville, Md. Poultry men of the Department of Agriculture choose breeding hens only from those which produce at least 225 eggs in the pullet years and whose eggs average at least two ounces in weight. They save only the chickens from hens whose eggs are at least 90 per cent hatchable. Pullets are not used in the regular breeding pens.

Perfect Citizenship

The title "epitome of good citizenship" has been applied to the verses found in Mark 12:17; Luke 20:25 with respect to payment of taxes: "Render unto Caesar (the state) the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

Progress and Family Life

A great many things have affected family life during the last 100 years. Among these are the invention of the automobile and the improvement of our roads, the moving picture, the telephone, the radio, the fact that many wives earn an independent income, the establishment of good nursery schools, the development of hotels, restaurants and apartment houses.

TRADE FOR HAFEY GIVES REDS SECOND SLUGGING OUTFIELDER

In place of the feeble stickers of last season, the Cincinnati Reds will show one of the best outfielders in the National League in the trio shown above. Douthett, fleet ball hawk, is the only hold-over. Herman from the Dodgers and Hafey from the Cubs were obtained in trade.
